GERMANS DRIVE NEAR IR YPRES

BRITISH RETREAT

LOAN IS CLOSE TO ITS FIRST BILLION

Total Subscriptions of $931,156,050 in Nation, With $91,060,000 From New England

The nation's subscription to the great Third Liberty Loan has boomed forward to a total of $931,156,050 and New England's total is $91,060,000, according to official announcements today.

That the third loan is being absorbed by the people far in excess of the previous issues was indicated in today's reports from the Federal reserve banks to the Treasury Department, Washington dispatches say.

The Chicago bank reported more than 632,000 actual subscribers in the district during the first eight days of the drive, Iowa reports 278,000, Indiana 105,000, Illinois, outside of Chicago, 95,000; Michigan 72,000, Wisconsin 26,000, and the city of Chicago more than 60,000.

In Boston the only change in a program for a big day was the failure of Mary Pickford to appear. This was a keen disappointment to thousands, but the program went forward with a bang, and the loan subscriptions were speeded up tremendously.

Substitute speakers were pressed into service at all the meetings at which Miss Pickford was scheduled to appear, and the meetings went off with enthusiasm.

The reason for Miss Pickford's non-appearance was that she was engaged in a civil suit in the New York courts, and the attorneys in the case would not consent to a postponement of the trial at issue.

GOING "OVER THE TOP."

New England's total of $91,060,000 reported today left but $160,000,000 of her quota of $250,000,000 to be raised in the remaining eighteen days of the campaign. The splendid totals reported in New England for the past three days' work indicated that New England had

LADY SPRINGTIME SMILES ON BOSTON

Miss Springtime appeared smilingly upon the scene today with Boston sharing with Hartford, Ct., the highest temperature in New England, 68, at 2 p. m. At the same time people were shivering at Eastport, Me., and Northfield, Vt., with the thermometer registering only two degrees above freezing. The nation's tip end at Key West, Fla., basked in the sunshine with the mercury at 74.

NEW MEDICAL CHIEF AT BRITISH MISSION

Captain T. A. Watterson, C. A. M. C., who recently returned from overseas duty has taken the place of Captain Theodor Morrison as head of the medical board of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission. Captain Morrison has been recalled to Toronto for military duty at that point.

The new head of the medical board spent fourteen months at base hospitals in England and six months at base hospitals in France.

Many men have been accepted by the mission for the British and Canadian service since Monday, it was announced today.

Baron Burian Named Czernin Successor; Is a Hungarian

By International News Service.

Washington, April 17.—Advices reaching here today stated that Baron Burian, a Hungarian, has been named as Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary to succeed Count Czernin. The State Department is without any official confirmation. It is also understood in the entente embassies here that there is to be no change in policy by Austria as a result of the change in ministers.

L. J. McCARTHY, THEATRE MAN, DIES AT 57

Former Manager of Boston Opera House and Boston Theatre Victim of Heart Disease

Lawrence J. McCarthy, Boston's best known theatrical proprietor, and known throughout the country, died today at the age of 57 at the home of his mother, No. 20 Abbotsford road, Brookline.

Mr. McCarthy had been in failing health for several months, and was obliged to give up his duties as lessee and manager of the Boston Opera House, Huntington avenue, more than a year ago. Death came from acute heart failure.

Mr. McCarthy was born in Roxbury and began his career as call-boy at the Boston Theatre in 1877, when but 1 years old. So attentive and faithful was he to duty that in the course of a few years he rose to the position of lessee and manager.

WAS FRIEND OF PATTI.

Mr. McCarthy was a friend of Adelina Patti, Campanini and other great opera stars, and was the first Boston Theatre proprietor to bring many celebrated stage stars to this city.

Many famous actors owe their rise in the profession to the far-sighted wisdom of Lawrence J. McCarthy. He possessed a keen knowledge of human

GERMANY CANNOT WIN, SAYS BAKER

Secretary, Speeding Up U. S. War Machine, Speaks Word of Assurance

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 17.—"Germany will not succeed!"

Emphasizing his words in a manner that left no doubt of his conviction, Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, back yesterday from the European battle lines, today declared that the German supreme effort to win a peace by the sword must fail.

The secretary could not reveal military secrets. He could not comment on the present titanic struggle going on in northern France and that little segment of Belgium still held by the allies. But he made it very plain to the newspapermen he greeted today that there must be no doubt felt here of the final outcome.

"Three great armies are fighting with a complete determination that Germany will not succeed," he said.

"These armies will win when the final result is known. The big thing for our united America to do now is to support the war. We must support it financially, with all of our sentiment, with compelling belief and courage. The right arm of America is in France. The rest of us here must support that right arm. We must subscribe to the Liberty Bonds. We must give our warriors the moral support which they must have."

The war secretary made it plain that

GREEKS PLUNGE IN WAR, ROUTING BULGARIANS

Force Crossing of Struma River and Capture Five Villages on the Eastern Bank

By International News Service.

London, April 17.—The Greek army went into battle against the German allies today, for the first time since Greece entered the war, and won a victory, the British War Office announced today. An important success was achieved in the sector of the Struma river, north of Lake Tachinos in Greek Macedonia, and a number of villages were captured from Bulgar-German troops. The Greeks alone captured five villages while the British captured another.

Forcing a crossing of the Struma early in the morning, the Greeks drove the Bulgar-German forces from five villages on the eastern side.

British troops that were operating with the Greeks occupied the important village of Kumli-Ormanli, eight miles south of the Bulgarian frontier.

"Early this morning the Greek forces crossed the Struma and captured five villages," the official statement said. "Further north the British occupied Kumli-Ormanli."

FIRST 'PORKLESS' BILL FOR HARBORS PASSED

Washington, April 17.—The House passed its first "porkless" rivers and harbors bill this afternoon. The $20,000,000 appropriated by the bill is for only such work as was specifically recommended by the War Department. Only a few new projects were authorized. The principal appropriations being for work at Hell Gate, N. Y.; Key West, Fla.; Charleston, S. C.; Norfolk, Va.; Los Angeles, and on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. The vote was 296 to 23.

THOUSANDS FALL IN HELSINGFORS BATTLE

By International News Service.

Washington, April 17.—In the fighting which preceded the capture of Helsingfors by the White Guards and their German assistants there were thousands of casualties, a report to the State Department from Swedish sources today stated.

The advices quoted Swedish newspapers under date of April 15 as saying that the fighting lasted for three days, both sides suffering heavily. Very valuable booty fell into the hands of the White Guard. Prisoners of the latter organization held in Helsingfors have all been released.

50 Women Lead Drive for Devens Fund at Red Sox Game

This was the big day at Fenway Park for the Boston American's Camp Devens Baseball Fund. A collection for this fund was taken up at the ball game today by a group of fifty women, members of the Boston Professional Women's Club, and Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston, made a speech from the middle of the field.

Mary Pickford, the film star, who was scheduled to go to the game and assist the fund, was not able to appear.

Her Boston engagement for today was cancelled. It was announced by the Liberty Loan Committee.

However, in her place a program of high value has been arranged to take the place she would have occupied at today's game.

The interest in the fund shown by the Professional Women's Club is United Fruit Copper sold up to 76¼. Baldwin, after selling up to 71 reacted to 70¾. Trading in Marine preferred was small, and after selling at 83¾ it rallied to 93¼. The railroad issues were lower Union Pacific dropping nearly 1 point to 117¾. Chesapeake & Ohio fell to 54¼ and Reading to 79½.

HAIG'S FORCES EAST OF YPRES WITHDRAW TO NEW LINE

In a direct smash against Ypres from the eastward the Germans have forced the British to withdraw slightly This was announced by the London War Office today. At Wytschaete, on the northern end of Messines Ridge, the Germans edged within four miles of Ypres from the south. But the London report announces that the British have made successful counter-attacks in the Wytschaete sector, also that they are again in possession of Meteren village, where the Germans had gained a foothold. Meteren is two miles west of Bailleul.

North of Bailleul the Germans tried to advance, but were thrust back by the British.

Despite the assertion of Premier Lloyd George that "nothing vital has been lost," the peril to Ypres and the British forces is an increasing source of discussion in both Washington and London. Washington dispatches today said that the city was more and more impressed with the gravity of the situation. London, according to latest cables, realizes that conditions have reached their most critical stage since the latest German drive began in French Flanders.

The Balkan zone suddenly came into the war picture today in announcement by the British War Office today that the Greek army, in its first battle against the Germans since Greece entered the war, had won an important victory in the Struma River sector of Greek Macedonia. The Greeks forced a crossing of the river and drove Bulgar-German forces from five villages, while British troops took a sixth village.

REPORT BILL TO DRAFT MEN WHO HAVE REACHED 21

Washington, April 17.—Another important step was taken today toward the final disposition of the bill to draft men who reached the age of twenty-one since June 5. After much delay, the House Military Affairs Committee made a favorable report on the measure, recommending that it be acted upon finally at the earliest possible date. A special rule will be asked to facilitate its consideration.

GERMAN FOOTHOLD ON THE MESSINES RIDGE THREATENS YPRES

forced to withdraw slightly east of Ypres, the War Office reported today at noon. The successful counter blows of the British were centred in the sector of Wytschaete, where the Germans had scored an advance in their frontal attacks against Messines Ridge on Tuesday.

The British are again in complete possession of the village of Meteren, which is between one and two miles west of Bailleul.

The Germans tried to extend their gains north of Bailleul, but all of their attacks in that zone were repulsed.

The text of today's official statement follows:

"We delivered successful counter attacks last night in the Wytschaete sector (on the upper end of Messines ridge).

"Another successful counter attack restored the situation at Meteren. The village remains in our hands. Numerous hostile attacks were delivered in the afternoon and last evening north of Bailleul, but all were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

"German infantry that was advancing in close formation was caught under our fire at close range and suffered severe losses. We secured some prisoners.

RETIRE EAST OF YPRES.

"The Germans tried to develop an attack east of Bailleul following a bombardment, but the advancing troops were broken up by our artillery fire.

"As a result of progress made by the enemy in the Lys river sector, our troops holding advanced positions east of Ypres were withdrawn to a new line. The withdrawal was carried out deliberately and without any interference from the enemy.

"Parties of German troops advancing over our old positions were caught by the fire of our outposts and annihilated.

"On the battle front south of Arras German troops that had entered our trenches near Boyelles were ejected on Tuesday afternoon, leaving some prisoners. Our line in this district has been completely restored.

"Hostile artillery was very active this morning south of the Somme (line)."

RAIDS BY FRENCH TROOPS.

Artillery duels raged between the Oise and Somme rivers (Picardy front) during the night, the Paris War office announced today. French troops made successful raids at various points.

"Artillery was active on both sides from the Somme to the Oise rivers last night," the communique said. "French forces carried out several successful raids at Mesnil, Bute de Tahura and north of Flirey.

"The Germans tried to attack east of Samogneux, but failed."

Two American Citizens Court-Martialed by Turks as Spies Are Exonerated

By International News Service.

Washington, April 17.—Two American citizens suspected by the Turks of being spies for the British forces have been court-martialed at Damascus, Secretary of State Lansing this afternoon told Representative Siegel of New York. The men were found not guilty and will soon be released. They are Adolph Yigdaleal and Alter Levin, both of New York.

Reports that from fifty to sixty American Jews had been taken from Jerusalem to Damascus and imprisoned by the Turks are exaggerations, the Secretary said.

"I am gratified to state that the latest official information from Turkey indicates that American press reports concerning the confinement of American citizens in Syria are inaccurate," Mr. Lansing said. He added, however, that the American consul there had been taken with the Turkish army from Jerusalem, but that all are now the two New Yorkers were at liberty.

British Key Positions in Belgium Seriously Menaced by Germans

By FRANK CHARLTON

International News Service Cable Editor.

While the British, in brilliant counter assaults, have thrown back the Germans from the points they captured around Meteren, Field Marshal Haig has been compelled to withdraw his troops from advanced positions on the Passchendaele ridge east of Ypres.

The Flanders battle has reached its critical stage. By constant pressure and blows continued day after day the Germans have broken the British grip upon the Messines ridge, and the British grip upon the Passchendaele ridge is seriously menaced if it has not already been broken.

These two dominating series of heights are the British key positions in Belgium.

GERMANS ROLLED BACK.

In the Wytschaete sector, at the northern end of the Messines Ridge, the British drove forward in a night counter-attack, which the British War Office in its official report today described as "successful."

There was another British success at Meteren, between nine and two o'clock west of Bailleul, when the Germans had gained a foothold in the village yesterday, but in desperate hand-to-hand fighting they were rolled back, leaving the British in complete possession of the village.

The flare-up of fighting near Boyelles, on the front south of Arras, again left the Germans the victors. The Germans penetrated a few trenches, but the British pressed home a quick and powerful counter thrust which completely restored the situation.

The Ypres sector of the great Flanders battle line today held the centre of the stage in importance and interest. Its direct and flank pressure on the Germans have been striving desperately to get control of the high ground in that region and at the same time drive forward from Bailleul, thus compelling a retirement all along the British left flank.

RAKES WITH ARTILLERY FIRE.

While thrusting against the British height positions on Messines ridge, the Germans renewed their efforts against the British lines north of Bailleul. Both were attacked in the direction of St. Jans and along the Hazebrouck railway, but no success was attained. The attacking forces came under the direct fire of British artillery and were mowed down in heaps.

The fighting on Tuesday night was along a double front and was marked by its ferocity. The British held to their positions like grim death and fulfilled to the letter Field Marshal Haig's order to hold their lines or die trying. They held.

General Plumer, one of the greatest soldiers the war has produced, has been recalled from the Italian front to the British War Office and is now commanding the second British army which is holding the line along the Bailleul-Wulverghem-Messines ridge front.

This was the eighth day of the Flanders battle and the 24th day of the Picardy struggle.

There has been only artillery dueling east of Albert and along the flank of the German salient in that zone, but it has been extremely violent.

Mayo Under Arrest for $100,000 Love Suit Judgment

By International News Service.

New York, April 17.—Virginius S. Mayo, New Haven manufacturer, whose matrimonial difficulties have created a sensation throughout the East for several months, was arrested in Brooklyn today in connection with a breach of promise suit brought against him by Wilhelmina Meyer, known as Virginia Mayo. Judgment of $100,000 was obtained several months ago, and officials have been trying ever since to get into touch with him. He never came in the jurisdiction of the local courts until today.

Mayo had arranged for his arrest today and bond was immediately furnished for double the amount of the judgment. Mayo refused to discuss the case.

ALLIES WILL WIN, BAKER TELLS NATION

he had been greatly benefited by his trip abroad. He knows first hand the waste of the army and the necessities of the allies of the United States. He believes he would see that these wants were met. There will be such complete co-ordination and co-operation between the United States and its forces abroad and between the United States and her allies that victory will be hastened, if the secretary has his way. And he expects to have it.

PRAISES U. S. SOLDIERS.

The secretary has arranged for a series of conferences with President Wilson and the cabinet and the heads in charge of the military program. These conferences will be devoted to increasing the speed of the American war machine, but for obvious reasons the plans that are to be developed for them cannot now be hinted at.

Secretary Baker spoke in the highest and warmest terms of the American soldiers in every sector. They throw themselves into the fighting with a snap and a dash that already has proved them "fighting Yankees," he said.

"And the soldiers in the camps and in the trenches are most enthusiastic over the war," he said. "The only one faced men I found there were a few who complained that for military or official reasons they might have to return home before their task was accomplished. They want to stay for the finish, and they all are confident of what that finish will be."

"There was gratifying enthusiasm in France and England when it was announced that General Pershing had tendered all of his men to participate in the Picardy fighting. It was received as conclusive proof that America was prepared to do her entire part in winning the war."

CONFIDENT OF OUTCOME.

The secretary's attitude today was one of full confidence. It was plain that his first-hand knowledge of what is needed to make the American war machine has not depressed him. On the job in the War Department early today, he conferred with Chief of Staff March and others of his chief aids. The reorganization of certain departments which already is under way is to be pressed to completion at once. And everything possible to increase the efficiency of the war machine will be done at once, it was said today.

"Every man from the highest in the ranks to the lowest is doing his work and doing it well," continued the secretary. "Time and physical fatigue don't enter into the situation over there. Our men have only one object, to get at the task set for them and to accomplish it regardless of its magnitude.

"The condition of the American soldiers in France and in England is excellent. They are physically perfect and are the admiration of their comrades of the other armies.

"The relations between the American soldiers and the civil and military population of both France and Great Britain could not be improved upon. Our men meet the new conditions in an energetic and sympathetic manner. The result is that there is a feeling of friendliness between our forces and the native population which helps wonderfully everywhere.

"All that the American soldier wants now is the opportunity to fight and he craves more fighting.

"It is the consensus of opinion everywhere that I went that the American soldier has more than made good. The French and British military experts are unanimous in praising his bravery."

nature and knew what the public approved of in the way of theatrical and operatic entertainment.

When employed at the Boston Theatre by Eugene Tompkins, Mr. McCarthy was the friend of Fannie Davenport, Mansfield, Booth, Barrett and other famous actors. He was considered one of the greatest producing managers in the country.

Twenty years ago Charles Pratman broke with David Belasco and Belasco offered the position of general stage manager to McCarthy. He declined the place, giving as his reason that he preferred Boston to any other field in the theatrical business.

MANAGED OPERA HOUSE.

Ten years ago Mr. McCarthy retired as manager of the Boston Theatre and lived in a quiet way until indirectly the owners of the Boston Opera House to take the management of that new playhouse.

Mr. McCarthy is survived by his mother, with whom he made his home, and by five sisters, Theresa, Emily, Annie, Agnes, and Mrs. G. A. Bobrich of Los Angles; and three brothers, Edward, Frank, and Arthur E.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

DROP "CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS" TO BONDS

Holyoke, April 17.—Otto Hilbert and William Porsche, German employes of the American Thread Company mills in this city, were discharged because of their refusal to buy Liberty Bonds. The men stated that they had "conscientious objections" to buying bonds, whereupon they were informed that the company had "a conscientious objection to employing men who possessed conscientious objections" to being patriotic. Hilbert is said to have a son who is in the graduating class at Annapolis.

BAY STATE BOY FIGHTS 5 HOURS WOUNDED

By BERT FORD,

Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

With the American Army in France, April 17.—An American private, whose home is in Massachusetts, was in the midst of the Forest of Apremont, northwest of Toul and fought the Germans for five hours, his right ankle being partly blown away by shrapnel. He refused medical aid until the end of the battle.

The private was wounded at 4 o'clock in the morning and was treated at 9 o'clock after walking fifteen kilometres.

He was on duty at an outpost so near the German lines that I could hear the Germans laughing in the trenches and their men talking. One fellow in our company, 100 yards away, was wounded by a grenade. I guess he must have been caught or something and the Boche got him. I reported it to our corporal and he and two privates and I stole out in the dark to carry him in. The mud was deep and the danger great, but we got him in all right. Then the fight started.

WAS A "GAME KID."

"A grenade exploded near me and I felt an awful pain in my leg, but kept on shooting. I guess I got a few of them. I was not afraid. I'm anxious to leave the hospital and return to the trenches to give them h—."

Another private on the next cot in the evacuation hospital said:

"Before the fight started the fellows were wondering how it would seem to get into it. The bombs dropped fifteen shells near us. I got clipped in the shoulder. One of our gang had a leg shot off and was found lying in the trench. He was a regular kid and said, 'Good luck, fellows, so long.' He died later.

"A Polander near me was killed like a crazy man every time he threw a grenade. He knocked out his share. The first bombs I got as I was creeping along. I noticed a light blood spot and fired. I got him all right and he let roll over and lie still. I got another fellow as he was going to throw a grenade at our dugout.

"The fellows who were wounded were game youngsters. There was no crying or groaning. To get into it again, is our best bet."

Two American aviators who on Sunday captured two German birdmen after melodramatic duels and are decorated by the French general, told the International News Service correspondent how they did it.

The first, Lieutenant Allan S. Winslow, of No. 265 Hampton court, Chicago, handsome blonde giant, twenty-two years old and six feet two inches tall, who was editor-in-chief of his college paper at Yale where he rowed in the freshman crew, said:

"Doug Campbell and I were playing cards when the 'Alert' was sounded. Two Boche machines were headed our way and we straddled our birds and started in pursuit. In less than no time we had engaged them and made them captives. We were back in the aerodrome six minutes after crossing the lines.

"My man opened fire on me while I was below him, jockeying for position, but I swooped up as he looped down and got him at close range on him and drove him to the ground. It was over in a jiffy. I got out and asked him if he had a cigarette. He took it.

"Then, thinking Doug might need help, I started up again, but Doug brought down the second machine in flames a minute later. Both were bagged in four and a half minutes from the time we left the ground.

"My prisoner was a Pole, twenty-four years old. He had been a pilot two years. He said to me in perfect French: 'The war is over for me.'

"I was a little fussed, but it all happened so swiftly I had no time to think. The French people were enthusiastic over the affair. One woman who kept a little store wanted to treat the Americans who did it. She shook my German prisoner by one of us in the crowd and handed him a bottle of champagne as a trophy. The German accepted it and downed it. Doug and I had to laugh.

"I have been flying two years. I served at first in the French army."

Second Lieutenant Douglas Campbell is a Harvard boy, seventeen years old. His father is director of Lick observatory, Mount Hamilton, Cal. He said:

"The Boche machines were two thousand metres high when we closed with them. I lost no time in pumping bullets at my man and saw I got his range.

"He hurtled around some when I finally winged him before he came down. He managed his crippled machine cleverly, complaining so as to avert worse injuries.

"He was burned up some, but managed to unhook the strap that held him in his seat.

TANK AMERICA WILL SOON BE UNDER WAY

Brigadier-General John A. Johnston, commander of the Department of the Northeast, issued the following statement today in regard to the tank America:

"There has been a delay about the ceremony of dedicating the tank America that is due not to any mechanical defect, but it is expected it will get under its own power within twenty-four hours. The full story of the cause of the delay will be explained later." It is not our privilege to make it known at present.

"The tank in all respects has responded well, except for the delay which as I said before is not caused by any mechanical defect. The tank has been designed and engineered by men thoroughly skilled in mechanics. When it is in good working order, which it will be soon, it will be a creditable reflection on American ingenuity and skill.

"The public will be made aware through the newspapers of the time of its dedication. It will be dedicated with the Sign of the Cross, because it is intended to make the cross our defense in contrast with the Kaiser who has made it his offence by bombarding a cathedral in Paris during the Crucifixion hours on Good Friday."

ACCUSED OF STEALING AUTO VALUED AT $1,400

Joseph Danahey, alias John J. Boyden, who gives a Brockton address, was in Municipal Court today charged with the larceny of an automobile valued at $1,400, owned by John J. Harrington. He pleaded not guilty. He was held in $1,000 until Saturday.

'WIN WORLD WAR,' BISHOP LAWRENCE'S PLEA AT EPISCOPAL CONCLAVE

PRELATE URGES ALL AT HOME TO BE LIVING EXAMPLES TO SOLDIERS ABROAD

"Win the world war," was the keynote of Bishop Lawrence's inspiring address today at the opening of the 123d annual convention of the Episcopal churches in the diocese of Massachusetts, held in Huntington Hall.

"We have a war to wage at home," he declared, as he urged his hearers to fight vice and intemperance, lest the soldiers suffer from them.

In discussing problems of church administration, the bishop urged larger salaries for clergymen of the diocese who receive less than $2,500 a year.

The bishop's speech, as it refers to the war duties of the church, follows:

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

"Our work first, last and always is to throw our whole strength into winning the war. There is no half-way measure. If we doubt or deny the righteousness of this country in entering the war, then the quicker we drop our arms the better; we should be out of it, for it is a horrible business. But if we believe that justice, humanity and civilization are at stake, if we know that it is our duty to defend our country from marauders, then our work is laid out for us to fight with all our might.

"We shall not postpone our supreme effort until next month or next year. Now is the appointed time. The path runs down into a deep vale, the cross may be at the end. Nevertheless we 'must walk today and tomorrow and the day following.' We will set our face steadfastly toward Jerusalem. And in the waves of emotion, the turn of the news, the depression and excitement, we will do well to keep that word in mind, 'steadfast.'

SET STANDARD AT HOME.

"What will this mean to us at home? It will mean to us what it means to our soldiers and sailors, for it is a people's war; we are all one, the home base and the front line; the same spirit must dominate all.

"In order that our soldiers and sailors may do the most effective work in winning the war, we ask of them certain qualities and standards. We can ask no less of ourselves. What are they. We ask that they keep physically fit. We are proud of the way in which our boys and men have been built up in physical strength. They stand straight; their whole body is vigorous and well poised; for through hard work, constant exercise, attention, simple food and freedom from alcoholic drink and from vice they are adjusting their whole physical machinery, their muscles, nerves and brains for service. They are mentally alert, temperamentally cheerful and full of courage. Now and again depression creeps over them, but they have command of themselves and rise above it.

FIGHT FOR HUMANITY.

"Facing the horrors of the battle, they see beyond and above the cause for which they fight, and that spiritual cause, justice, humanity, liberty, sweeps through with power and courage. If they are at their best they have faith, simple and crude it may be, but faith in a living, loving God; for religious faith in a righteous cause is the greatest fighting power. When a man knows that he has made with God he fights serenely. General Woods tells me a few days ago that one of the foremost generals of the allies said to him at the front a few weeks ago. 'It is the moral factor in one of the officers and men of the allied armies that is our fighting power.'

"The soul of the army is on the front line, the soul of the army must be in the home at home. What does this mean to us?

"It means that our communities, that you and I and our neighbors here at home a war to wage, that we may give full support to those at the front, that we and our children and our towns may in character be worthy to welcome those who return.

ALL MUST KEEP FIT.

"The duty of every man, woman and child is to keep himself physically fit. The most of us are in some form or other slackers; as compared with the army our communities are slack. The time to reform is not after the war, but now.

"What is good for the soldier is good for the citizen. Abstinence from alcoholic drinks is as necessary for us as for the soldier. More than this, as the law prohibits the sale of liquor to the soldier, why should it not prohibit the sale of liquor to the citizen? I am not advising as to the best method of prohibition. I am only insisting that if the prohibition or drink is fair upon the soldier for efficiency, it must also be laid upon us all, else we are slackers.

"The army in France today is cleaner and freer from vice than the men who are at home; the soldier boy is safer from vice and disease than is his own village or city. Hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of our boys may be called into service; let us send them into service clean men.

PRESS FOR PROPER LAWS.

"The duty of every citizen, man or woman, who wants to do his part is to help clean up his own town, demand that the authorities do it, press the legislation for proper laws, see that the laws are executed, and above all see to it that in character and habits of life he or she is a worthy citizen soldier.

"We have a civilization to sustain as well as to save, children to educate, millions of men and women who cannot find the English language to incorporate into our American life, prisons to reform and rebuild, hospitals, institutions of all sorts to support and improve, social problems to work out. These are all a part of our war duty; while we are making the nation strong for war, we are making it strong and fit for peace.

"And the churches, what is their work. The churches, thank God, are not confining their ownership or work within their own walls.

HEAVY DUTIES AHEAD.

"This coming year, my brethren of the clergy and laity will be on us heavy, very heavy duties, and will open up to us great, very great opportunities. Reality is the keynote of the soldiers' religion. Let it be the keynote of ours."

The bishop then told of the work of the army chaplains and the eagerness with which the clergy had responded to this form of patriotic work. He also spoke of the efforts made by the churches to provide service clubs, where enlisted men may rest and recreation while off duty. The diocese has received gifts aggregating $11,000 for war work, of which $6,000 has been sent to the general war commission. About $25,000 remains in hand, and the remainder is to be used for equipping and supporting chaplains and for other forms of work.

The average pay of clergymen in the diocese, he said, is $2,084. "This, to be sure, is small enough for men who, with their families, must live in the centre of the community, dress well and meet all the conditions of a modern rector," he said. "but it is not much comfort for a man who is trying to support his family on $1,500 to know that the average salary is several hundred dollars larger.

HIGHER SALARIES NEEDED.

"I have therefore drawn off a list of the parishes which pay salaries between $2,200 with rectory and $1,800 with rectory. There are ninety-four of these, men almost all of them strategically placed, which could some of the heaviest and most effective work in the diocese. A large salary and a fair one in addition to the efficiency of their work."

A resolution that women be allowed to vote in the annual convention was referred to the standing committee for report, without debate. Several committees were appointed and routine business transacted.

LIVERMORE IS A BIG WINNER IN COTTON

Jesse L. Livermore, formerly of Boston, the 'boy broker' whose reputation as having made and lost several fortunes in the stock market has spread over two continents, has now made a big killing in the cotton market, according to reports from the New York Stock Exchange.

For the past ten days there has been a steady decline in cotton futures. July cotton, which on April 4 sold at the top level of 33.50, dropped to 27.40. Livermore's entire line was covered and is said to have shown a net profit of over $2[illegible] a bale, or $2,000,000, approximately.

Jesse Livermore, according to his story, concluded his first successful coup in the stock market when he was only sixteen years old. The operation was put through a New England bucket shop, with the result that $1,200 was added to the clothing doors. Livermore came to Boston. The man's pockets were turned inside out, and according to Medical Examiner Clifford M. Griffin of Providence the body had been in the water for two or three months.

The body was that of a man about 50, with black hair partly bald, and a black mustache. He was 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighed 200 pounds. There was no collar on the body, but a white silk scarf was found in one of the pockets of the overcoat, which was imported by a high grade Boston clothing house. The man's suit was also made by a Boston firm and was of expensive material, as were his shirt, stockings, shoes and underwear. The teeth were in good condition.

The man's gold watch was stopped at 9:30 o'clock, and shortly afterward an error in judgment cost him $750, when the employing the 'old' firm. A young stock broker's own statement: "I am not always successful. More frequently than otherwise I am unsuccessful, but I am quick to discern the fact that I have been contrary to the trend of the market."

HELD FOR AIDING LIQUOR SALE TO MEN IN SERVICE

Frank Murphy, who gives a Cambridge address, was arrested by the provost guard in Hanover street and arraigned before Commissioner Hayes today, charged with aiding the sale of liquor to men in the military service. He was held in $500. With him at the time of his arrest was a sailor, who was so much overcome with liquor that he was telling the crowd his experiences on the trip to France and back. This, in the view of the provost guard authorities, is an extremely serious offense and it is expected that the sailor will be court-martialed.

AUTOIST, INTOXICATED, IS FINED $125 AT LYNN

In Lynn court today Michael Masman of Washington street, Lynn, was fined $125 for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A charge of carrying a dangerous weapon was placed on his. Masman crashed into a motorcycle carrying Mendale Nichols, No. 29 Clinton street, and Leroy Harris, No. 807 Chestnut street, Lynn, on the Lynn Shore Drive. The motorcycle was wrecked.

BELIEVE BOSTON MAN VICTIM IN RIVER TRAGEDY

Foul Play Theory Pursued at Providence; Body Yet to Be Identified

The expensively clad body of an unidentified man, believed to have been a Bostonian who was the victim of foul play, was found in the Providence River at Providence, R. I.

The man's pockets were turned inside out, and according to Medical Examiner Clifford M. Griffin of Providence the body had been in the water for two or three months.

The body was that of a man about 50, with black hair partly bald, and a black mustache. He was 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighed 200 pounds. SCHWAB NAMED AS SHIPPING DIRECTOR

Washington, April 17.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, has been named by President Wilson director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in that capacity he will have complete charge of the construction of the American merchant marine.

It was emphasized at the White House that the appointment of Schwab was made at the suggestion of Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board, and Bainbridge Colby, one of the board members.

MAY USE FORT NIAGARA FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Washington, April 17.—Fort Niagara may be transformed into an enormous hospital for insane soldiers brought back from France if conditions which are now being investigated warrant, according to War Department officials today. Officers of the medical corps are now looking over the ground, and if their report is favorable the famous army post will be placed in the hands of the medical department.

T. H. SPEAKMAN DIES ON STREET IN ALLSTON

Thomas H. Speakman, a widower of No. 66 Harriet street, Allston, while walking with his daughter Ethel on Hobart street, Allston, today, dropped dead. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital where death was said to be due to natural causes.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., April 17.—Mrs. Neona Noland Liberty, niece of Robert H. Ingersoll, the millionaire watchmaker, who eloped with her uncle's chauffeur, has instituted divorce proceedings in Idaho, on the ground that her husband failed to support her.

The couple, following their marriage, lived at the St. Johnsbury home of Arthur Liberty's parents for nearly two years.

It is expected there will be a contest over the custody of a two-year-old son, Earl Jefferson Liberty, who is now with his mother at St. Marie, Idaho. Mrs. Liberty went there to visit her parents, after spending a night at the summer home of the Ingersolls at Oyster Bay, L. I.

Both parties engaged St. Johnsbury lawyers, and five days were devoted the past Winter to taking depositions. The parents of Arthur Liberty declare that the married life of the young couple was happy, and that there was no reason for bringing the suit. Liberty is at present employed in Montreal as chauffeur for a wealthy grocer.

SACRIFICED MUCH FOR LOVE

The Liberty romance four years ago this Spring was regarded as one of the most striking examples in an age of luxury and social climbing of an heiress spurning great riches in order to wed a poor young man whom she loved.

Mrs. Liberty was Naomi Clare Noland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Noland of St. Marie, Ida. She had lived at the Ingersoll's Oyster Bay mansion for the past few years.

In the early Spring of 1914, when Miss Noland was still in her 'teens, Arthur D. Liberty of St. Johnsbury, Vt., son of a baker of that town, secured employment as Mr. Ingersoll's chauffeur.

Love speedily arose between the chauffeur and his employer's attractive niece. In the latter part of May, 1914, the heiress and the chauffeur eloped and were married.

The heiress knew that her uncle would be bitterly opposed to the match. In addition she realized the material sacrifices she was making. These included the following:

A trip to Europe.
$40,000 string of pearls.
A musical education abroad.
A large legacy.
Smart Manhattan society.

"LOVE IN A COTTAGE."

Mr. Ingersoll told the bride the moment he was informed of the marriage that she could return to his home if she would give up her husband.

The bride's answer was to accompany Liberty to his Vermont home, where they set up housekeeping on the "love-in-a-cottage" plan. Liberty planned to open a garage and secure the territorial agency for a car.

The bride, in the first flush of honeymoon bliss, made the following statement:

"I have no desire to go back to New York. I have no regrets whatever. I am very, very happy. It will be nothing new for me to be without servants and I am a good cook."

The last word at that time from the bride's uncle was:

"While my niece remains with that man not a penny of my money shall she receive."

Fourteen months after the marriage a boy was born. He was named Earl Jefferson Liberty for his grandfather.

NEW JERSEY MILLS DEFY U. S. GOVERNMENT

New York, April 17.—Practical defiance of the federal Government was contained in the refusal by directors of the Garfield Worsted Mills of New Jersey to reorganize by electing a majority of directors from names dictated by the Government.

The refusal was made in the office of A. Mitchell Palmer, custodian of alien property, at the conclusion of a long and stormy conference.

MASSEURS TELL OF THE EATONS' DEVOTION

Three Pasadena Residents, One a Barber, Say Couple Acted Very Affectionate

A masseuse, a masseur and a barber gave testimony in the Superior Court today to the effect that pleasant relations existed between the late Charles F. Eaton, proprietor of Thompson's Spa, and his wife.

The witnesses made the depositions here residents of Pasadena, Cal. They treated Eaton when he was ill in the beautiful home which he purchased for his wife before their wedding.

Marshall Cutler, a former Boston man and Harvard graduate, who is now in business in Florence, Italy, testified that Eaton told him he considered himself very fortunate in having married for a wife.

W. Roy Ransom of Pasadena, a barber, testified that from January to May 15, 1914, he visited Mr. Eaton's house seventeen or eighteen times to shave him or cut his hair. At all times Eaton seemed much concerned about Mr. Eaton, and cautioned Ransom to be careful not to do anything which might excite Eaton. Asked as to the character of the treatment and behavior of Mrs. Eaton toward her husband, the witness replied that it always was very kind and considerate.

DON'T DRIVE SO FAST.

On one occasion when Mrs. Eaton came to an automobile to get Ransom, the latter said that while going to the Eaton house Mrs. Eaton said to the chauffeur: "Tenny, don't drive so fast." Ransom, who was riding on the seat with Thayer, says Thayer turned to him and in a low voice said: "She's a devil to work for."

Georgine Sonatchy, a masseur, who on April 7 and May 7, 1914, treated Eaton's arms and legs at the Californian Hotel, said she was informed that Eaton was suffering from palpitation of the heart and defective circulation, and was told to do light work on account of the condition of Mr. Eaton's heart. Miss Sonatchy said she noticed a numbleness and pallor sometimes of the hands and feet, which led to her indicated trouble with the heart.

Carl A. Hillstrom of Pasadena said that in 1913 Mr. Eaton broke an arm and Hillstrom from December 15, 1913, to January 6, 1914, gave Eaton massage treatments. His visits were made between 7 and 7:30 in the morning, and Mr. Eaton was very anxious that Mrs. Eaton should not be disturbed. Asked as to the physical condition of Mr. Eaton at the time, Hillstrom said the only thing he heard Eaton speak of was a shortness of breath, and he never noted any fuss about it. Mr. Eaton never made complaint of any cruel treatment by Mrs. Eaton.

BOTH SEEMED DEVOTED.

Marshall Cutler, who was born in Boston and was graduated from Harvard in 1877, studied law and was admitted to the bar, and is now engaged in business in Florence, Italy, told of first meeting Mr. and Mrs. Eaton in March, 1913, when they came to purchase furniture for a house which they were about to build at Pasadena. For two weeks they made frequent visits and during that time Mr. Eaton told him and showed them articles in stock, but appeared new designs for them.

Mr. Eaton seemed to be a very devoted couple and showed great consideration toward each other. Eaton was extremely careful in the selection of furniture, so that it would conform to the requirements of the house. They never differed in the purchase of any article, and Mrs. Eaton took a good deal of pleasure and taste without lavishness in expenditure. She was a lady of culture and he should say that Mrs. Eaton was the most careful purchaser.

MIGHT TAKE THE OWNER.

Cutler testified that in a talk he had with Eaton in which Eaton spoke of being pleased with Pasadena and his liking for Mrs. Eaton's house, at the time she was there, Mr. Eaton said to Mr. Bartlett: Eaton said Mrs. Bartlett was not inclined to let him have the house the second year, as she wanted to occupy it herself. Mr. Cutler said that Eaton jocularly remarked, "I must have the house even if I have to take the owner." Later Eaton told Cutler that he (Eaton) was a very fortunate man in getting Mrs. Bartlett for a wife.

"Did you ever observe any act on the part of Mr. Eaton to humiliate and belittle Mrs. Eaton?"

"None whatever."

342 DARTMOUTH MEN READY FOR WAR WORK

Hanover, N. H., April 17.—In an attempt to place a large number of Dartmouth undergraduates in Government manufacturing plants for the Summer, final results of the recent questionnaire of undergraduates have been put to the hands of the managers of large Government concerns. Three hundred and forty-two students expressed their willingness to accept positions with war-work firms, while 160 had already secured employment for the Summer, and eight stated that they did not intend to work.

Aeroplane manufacturing proved the most popular of the seven branches of manufacturing offered, with 161 students signifying their willingness to enter this form of work.

Munition work, shipbuilding, and clerical work followed, with those in 100 votes apiece, while the remaining choices were distributed as follows: farm work, 18; mechanical work, 13; mill work, 17.

Sturbridge, April 17.—James Purdy of Maple avenue, who has been a blacksmith for sixty-five years, is still at the age of eighty-seven, engaged in the shop he has had here for three decades. He is a native of Digby County, N. S.

JOHN T. CROWLEY GETS TOBIN'S PLACE

Abington Democrat Succeeds Boot and Shoe Worker on State Labor Board

Governor McCall made a number of appointments today. The most important of which was that of Representative John T. Crowley of Abington as a member of the State Board of Labor and Industries. He will succeed John F. Tobin, whose term expires.

The reason for the change given out from the Governor's office was the fact that there has been an overrepresentation of boot and shoe interests on the board. Tobin was a vice-general president of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union.

Mr. Crowley is a former mill superintendent in the textile and woolen trades. He is a Democrat and has been progressive in all human welfare legislation.

The other appointments were as follows:

Jesse B. Evans, clerk of the District Court at Winchendon, to place of Elliot S. Tucker, resigned.

Dr. Vernon C. Stewart, Woburn, medical examiner of Middlesex County, to succeed Dr. William H. Kelleher, term expired.

Dr. Charles R. Frothingham, Lynn, surgeon of the Boston State Hospital, to place of John F. Fennessey, resigned.

Henry P. Field, Northampton trustee Northampton State Hospital, to place of Henry L. Williams, deceased.

Walter S. Handiman, Springfield, Monson State Hospital, to place of Michael I. Shea, term expired.

FISH PRICES UP IN SPITE OF GREAT CATCH

Although more fish was handled at the New England Fish Exchange in 1917 than in any previous year, prices were higher than at any time in the history of the exchange, according to testimony today at the hearing before Special Attorney General Stevens Brigham.

William H. Beardsley, manager of the Boston Fish Pier Company, who has been the only witness since the hearing started, made the above statement. Other witnesses, officials headed by Special Attorney General E. F. Mortimer, endeavored to obtain from him information regarding the cost of bringing fish from the grounds to the retailers without auction.

It was brought out that in 1911 and 1912 the Fish Pier Company charged 6c and 4½ per cent and the Bay State Fishing Company 2½ and 2 per cent commission on the total purchases on the exchange. The remainder went to so-called independent dealers.

PATRONS MUST PAY TAX ON THEATRE TICKETS

War taxes imposed upon theatre patrons must be paid by the theatre patrons and not by the proprietors, according to a ruling of the internal revenue office, which has been sent to agents investigating Boston theatres to discover whether this ruling is generally recognized. It is understood from this that this will do away with the practice of including the tax in the admission including, including war tax and that households theatres must be compelled to print the tax on a schedule with the taxes on a ten cent ticket, a 15 cent ticket, etc. The object is to keep admission prices and tax separate.

GIRL DEATH SUSPECT ADMITS HER IDENTITY

Meriden, Conn., April 17.—The Meriden police today said that Harry W. Brice, arrested as a safe-burglar and now held in New Haven county jail, admits he is Patricia J. Sullivan, wanted in Clinton, Mass., in connection with the death of a high school girl whose body was found in the woods near her home. He denies any part in the crime. Massachusetts police officials will apply at once for extradition papers.

CALL BY RED CROSS FOR COLLEGE WOMEN NURSES

New York, April 17.—A call to college women to enlist as nurses has been issued by Miss Jane Delano of the Red Cross. Vassar College will admit students for a three months' preliminary course in nursing, beginning June 24. Information as to the project may be obtained from training camp recruiting headquarters, 120 West Forty-second St., N. Y. 106 East Fifty-second street.

Mary Pickford Faces Two Suits Before New York Court

New York, April 17.—Mary Pickford, of motion picture fame, obtained separate attorneys against Mr. Weld in a drama of real estate.

Before Supreme Court Justice Mullan and a jury she appeared to defend an action brought by Attorney Field, who lives in Chicago, to collect $100,000 damages for alienation of affections and illegal business matters, rendered from March to June, 1916, she declares he has overcharged her.

While awaiting the trial Miss Pickford was summoned as a witness for examination before trial in another action, in which she is defendant, by Attorney Field. Miss Wilkening seeks an counsel $150,000. The suit was begun by Miss Pickford's $1,000 weekly earnings in title.

During the court session Miss Pickford was shown a picture of her from California, in which the husband, Owen Moore, was pictured as having used her as a shield. Douglas Fairbanks, movie actor, to whom she was said to be engaged. She looked at the telegram handed it to her mother, and the latter, Mrs. Charlotte Smith, a Scotch attorney. No one would make any comment.

FIND GIRL OF 18 DEAD IN GAS FILLED ROOM

Police and Parents Mystified—Clothes Bought Night Before Are Missing

Suicide or accidental death is the problem for the police to decide in the case of Miss Jessie May Hall of No. 162 Centre street, Jamaica Plain, whose body was found in her father's home. She had been returned from work.

Miss Hall was found in her room with the gas jet open, and the windows closed. She was dressed and her hat and coat were lying on the bed beside her dead.

Hall threw open the windows and tried to resuscitate the girl. His efforts failed and he called a physician. Dr. Dillon, the next neighbor, also tried to revive the girl, but the doctor worked over the girl and ordered the police notified. Officers Allen and Hurley responded to the call and for some time the police and the doctor worked on the theory that the girl committed suicide by inhaling gas from the jets.

The Hall's live on the first floor of a three-apartment house. The second woman who was sighted again did not appear at the scene of excitement. Mrs. Lillie M. Hall, the wife, is employed as a $4.50 Boylston street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall told the police that their daughter was in splendid spirits when she left for work that morning. They said she was particularly happy over the purchase of a coat and said something about how she and her mother would go to the theatre that night. At breakfast, which she ate with her parents, she was in the best of spirits and testified and joked with them.

Miss Hall came to Boston to live about five years ago from Lowell, N. H., where she was educated and graduated from the Lowell High School.

EXPLORER STEFANSSEN IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

Fairbanks, Alaska, April 17.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, is dangerously ill of typhoid fever at his camp on Herschel Island. A messenger arriving at Fort Yukon from the island last night said Stefansson and Dr. Anderson, physician at the mining camp on Herschel Island declared that Stefansson's condition had taken a sudden turn for the worse and a wireless message was sent to Edmonton, Alberta, asking that a special train be made ready to convey the explorer to the hospital there.

IRISH CONSCRIPT CLAUSE WINS IN COMMONS

Dillon Motion Defeated; Home Rule Demanded by America, Says Lloyd George

By International News Service.

London, April 17.—A motion by John Dillon, Redmond's successor as Irish Nationalist leader, for the suspension of the Irish conscription clause in the new power bill, was defeated in the House of Commons today, 256 to 104.

Washington, April 17.—The declaration of Lloyd George in the Home Rule discussion has greatly pleased President Wilson, which believes the Premier's statement presages an early and satisfactory settlement of the Irish question.

Lloyd George is quoted as declaring in his confidence in the ultimate success of the Allied armies in checking the present German drive, though he said that war opinion in England would likely continue in distrusting between hope and despair for some days yet.

The Premier's statements on the Irish question were confirmed in an official statement today by Bonar Law, labor member without portfolio in the British Cabinet, that the Home Rule bill will be introduced immediately introduced and that pressure would be brought to bear on every member of the House of Commons to secure its passage.

COURT ORDERS RANDOLPH SCHOOL FLAG BE RAISED

The flag must fly hereafter over the Public School of Randolph.

By order of Judge Avery in the Quincy court today the members of the Randolph School Committee were instructed that they must forthwith have the flag over the school at once and keep it there.

Last week William E. Spear made a complaint that the committee, of which Mrs. Ida F. Long, George H. Higgins and Edmund R. Belcher, has not complied with the law. The statute requires that each school must have the flag over the building during session. The school officials are under responsible for the flag's care.

Spear said he had called the attention of the committee to the failure to display the flag and that he had been informed that the committee had decided that it would not be noticed. His offer to repair the halyards, he said, had been refused.

Most Hall came to Boston to live about five years ago from Lowell, N. H., where she was educated and graduated from the Lowell High School.

MAJOR SULLIVAN NOW AT HIS NEW DESK

Major Thomas F. Sullivan, newly appointed Public Works Commissioner began his duties today, having succeeded Mayor Peters. Mayor Peters has accepted the appointment of Edward F. Murphy, assistant corporation counsel, and he is a Major Peters' hands shortly after his appointment.

Sullivan was commissioner for the Boston Elevated and lives in South Boston.

50 WOMEN HELP CAMP FUND AT RED SOX GAME

Mary Pickford Unable to Come to Boston and Aid Soldier Boys at Devens

due to the efforts of Mrs. May Fiske Hoffman of that organization, who has given her time and taken a great deal of trouble to help out this cause. Mrs. Hoffman heard of the fund and at once brought it to the attention of her club, which was holding its monthly luncheon at the Copley-Plaza. As a result fifty members volunteered to assist the AMERICAN in taking up the collection at Fenway Park.

The Camp Devens Baseball Fund is well enough known to everybody now, but for the benefit of those who have recently come to Boston, here it is again:

MUST STAND TO SEE GAME.

The boys at Camp Devens have no fit place to play ball. They have a field, it is true, but no grandstand, and those who crowd around to see the games only see them if they happen to be in the front row.

Some time ago, Major-General Harry Hodges, in command of the Seventy-sixth Division, made the suggestion that somebody build a grandstand on land furnished by the Government so that the men of the camp and their friends could see the games and other athletic events.

This fund will be used to build that grandstand, equip it, lay out a diamond and build a small clubhouse for the teams with shower baths, lockers and other suitable equipment.

The whole thing is not going to cost in excess of $3,500. Subscribe what you can afford and in a few days the thing will be done.

The following is the latest list of contributions:

Previously acknowledged	$730.83

HOW TO SEND MONEY.

A word as to the right way to make your contribution to this fund.

DO NOT MAKE ANY CHECKS FOR THE FUND PAYABLE TO THE BOSTON AMERICAN. MAKE ALL CHECKS PAYABLE TO ROBERT C. DEMING, TREASURER, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF THE FUND. THE AMERICAN IS ACTING SIMPLY AS A TRANSFER AGENT.

Contributions to the Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund will be received by this paper for transfer to Lieutenant Deming, or, if contributors prefer, they may send their contributions direct to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, treasurer Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund, at Camp Devens.

The way in which the Baseball Fund is taking hold is evidenced by the letters which come into this office each day about it.

WOMEN COLLECT MONEY.

Some of those who collected were Mrs. Walter Hartstone, Mrs. Alice L. R. Gerlach, Mrs. Maud Huntington Benjamin, Miss Catherina Devine (Miss Boston), Mrs. Otto Heinemann, Mrs. W. C. Pike, Miss Penelope Frease, Mrs. S. S. Wilson Bayley, Dr. Hilda Dadmun, Mrs. Marie D. Fuelten, Mrs. Marie Gavrick, Mrs. Jeanette Holmberg, Miss M. B. Brater, Miss Marion Reignier, Mrs. Garcia Moody, Miss Ruth Swift, Miss Bonnie Starrett, Mrs. Eva W. Watson, Mrs. Alice Aberdeen, Miss Harriet B. Foster and Mrs. May Fiske-Hoffman.

Others who participated were: Misses Amelia F. Santos, Helen Weeks, Isabelle de Houthillier, Katherine Day, Eleanor Weiss, Grace Vidal, Freda Seavey, Helena Glidden, Mildred Colby, Hazel Tornquist, Ruth Cummings, Jeannette Miller, Mildred Sparge, Willa Brooks, Gertrude Hilles, Muriel Watson, Mary Campbell, Madeline Sturgis, Thelma Gray, Helen Bean and Laura Murray.

WEBSTER AGAIN HELPS AYER CAMP BALL TEAM

Webster, April 17.—This town made its second contribution today to the Boston American's Camp Devens Baseball Fund, when a check for $4.65, collected at the Webster Social Club's dance, was sent to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming at Camp Devens, who is custodian of the fund. The collection was made by Miss Winnie Shiminsky and Miss Helen Fitzpatrick, after making short speeches from the stage.

Following the announcement of the amount collected, the crowd gave three cheers for the Baseball Fund and three more for the young ladies for their interest and assistance. Last week the sum of $10 was raised for the fund at another dance here given by the D. L. K. Society.

A happy discovery of Cincinnati chemist interests women here

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and callises on your feet, but why care now?

A genius in Cincinnati discovered a magic ether compound and named it Freezone. A quarter ounce of this freezone can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. Apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shrivized and loose that you lift it off with your fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses, for a few cents and without suffering one particle, without the slightest irritation of the surrounding skin. Just a touch of this marvelous freezone on a sore, troublesome corn gives instant relief.—Advertisement.

Dorchester and South Boston Boys on Casualty List

Lieutenant Roland J. Winterton of South Boston (at top), who was killed in aviation accident at Texan camp, and Sergeant Mark Jacobs of Dorchester, wounded in France.

Many Boston men figure in the recent casualty lists. Word has come of the death of Lieutenant Roland J. Winterton of South Boston, as a result of an accident at a Texas aviation camp.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Winterton and was born in South Boston 23 years ago. He attended the Lincoln grammar school and South Boston High School, and was later a widely known yachtsman. He attended a Plattsburg camp and when assigned to the aviation service and took a course at Tech before going South for field training.

Sergeant Mark Jacobs, a prominent Dorchester young man, has been wounded in France and is now home on a furlough.

19 MEN IN ARLINGTON AND WINCHESTER CALL

The selection board for State Division 89, which is made up of Arlington and Winchester, has sent notifications to thirty-eight draft registrants of the division to report at Camp Devens, Ayer, Monday, April 29, for military duty. The number of young men from the two towns is evenly divided, there being nineteen from each town. Joseph Gallarani of No. 288 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, who has been drafted, will be sent to the Wentworth Institute for a course of study.

It's rubbing soap on Blankets that shrinks and stiffens them

—And using ordinary soap to wash them

That was the old way of washing, and it was ruinous for woolens.

Wool fiber consists of tiny overlapping scales like the scales of a fish. When you rub or twist woolens, when you use ordinary soaps containing alkali or other strong cleansing agents, these tiny scales shrink and interlock, and your woolen becomes stiff, matted and shrunken.

With Lux there's no rubbing. Only souring in the rich, pure lather, and gently pressing the suds through the soiled parts. Lux comes in delicate flakes, which dissolve instantly in hot water and whisk up into a wonderful lather. Lux is so pure, that it won't shrink even the delicate wool fibers.

Wash your blankets this year the Lux way! Have them like new again. Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux.—Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

How to wash blankets

Use two tablespoonfuls of Lux to the gallon of water. Dissolve in boiling or very hot water, whisk into a thick lather, then put the blankets in, and stir with a smooth stick. Let them soak till the water has cooled enough for the hands to bear with comfort. Then squeeze the suds through the blankets. Do not rub.

Rinse three times in clear water of the same temperature that you washed the blankets in. Dissolve a little Lux in the last rinsing water, but do not beat into a lather. This leaves the blankets softer and fluffier. Do not twist. Put through a loose wringer, or squeeze the water out. Dry in the shade.

Won't shrink woolens!

DOG BILL HELPS MUTTON TRUST, SAYS THORE

People From Four Corners of State on Hand to Oppose the Measure

Dog lovers from the four corners of the State today renewed their fight against the dog bill.

At a hearing before the Ways and Means Committee of the Legislature, Wendell Phillips Thore of Boston denounced the bill as "a diabolical attempt to exterminate the dog for benefit of the Mutton Trust and the Sheep Trust.

"It is an attempt," Mr. Thore said, "to commit the State to an expenditure of money to destroy the friend of man. Although a dog lover, I would never raise another, if this bill becomes a law. It would be more humane to pass a law to prevent the raising of dogs.

GIVEN MEDALS IN FRANCE.

"The bill says, as an illustration of its cruel features, that a dog may be killed at random for killing any animal used for propagation. A dog could be murdered for killing a rat. It could be shot if it attacks a bumblebee or a bat. It could be killed if it chased a hog that broke out of its pen.

"The dog never betrays its friend. It is living and dying with the men in the trenches. It has dragged its master from 'No Man's Land' at the risk of its own life. These 'mongrels' have been medalled by the republic of France. And you would kill them to order that the Sheep Trust and the Mutton Trust may sheep our hills.

"And you provide no place in the bill that the farmer who takes to sheep raising will be protected against the Sheep Trust, which gets control of the market, forces down the prices and compels the farmer to sell to the trust at the trust's price."

WOULD EXTERMINATE DOGS.

Brooks Adams, publicist and great-grandson of former President John Adams, raised his hand with the scores of others in the committee room who were recorded against the bill. Mr. Adams told the committee that "this bill certainly will exterminate the dog."

Chairman Warner of the committee urged the speakers to confine themselves to the financial features of the bill. The measure proposes to appropriate $25,000 for administration of the new dog law. Assistant Attorney-General Seagrave and Secretary Wheeler of the State Board of Agriculture said that the income from license fees would sustain the cost of enforcement.

"It isn't so," said Whitfield Tuck of Winchester. "Don't put any more mortgages on the State. Save our money for more beneficent things."

"The fees will not make up the cost of enforcement," said State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill. "At a time like this the thing to do is to give this bill the hook."

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.—Advertisement.

CHARGE TEXTILE PLOT TO DEFEAT 50-HOUR BILL

Lobby Active, Say Social Welfare and Labor Advocates

Charges that an active lobby representing the textile and other mill interests of the State is attempting to kill the fifty-four hour bill for women and children in the legislative Committee on Social Welfare are made today by Mrs. L. B. Rantoul and by Representative Robert S. Corrigan of Natick.

Mrs. Rantoul is the Legislative representative of the Women's Trade League, which supports the minimum wage, shorter hours and better working conditions for women and children in the industries. Mr. Corrigan is clerk of the committee which he asserts the lobby interests are seeking to influence against the fifty-hour bill.

The lobbying, they assert, is in the hands of Allan G. Buttrick of Lancaster, who represents the Arkwright Club, and Francis M. Hill of Saugus, an agent of the Associated Industries, an organization of capitalists who maintain a paid lobby to defeat social welfare legislation, including the eight-hour day. They constitute the same outfit which financed the campaign against the Initiative and Referendum in the Constitutional Convention.

IN HOUSE LAST YEAR.

Hill last year was a member of the Legislature. His term no sooner expired than he became the chief lobbyist of the Associated Industries.

At the opening of the Legislature the American Federation of Labor and others filed bills providing for a forty-eight-hour week for women and children, who now work fifty-four hours a week in the industries. The A. F. of L. proposal was substantially the same bill which passed the House last year and was defeated in the Senate, largely through the efforts of Edward A. Thurston of Fall River, former chairman of the Republican State Committee and former lobbyist of the Arkwright Club, which is an association of textile mill owners.

After several hearings, the Committee on Social Welfare voted to report a compromise bill, providing a fifty-hour week for the women and girls who work for a living. The bill was reported in the House. Subsequently a motion was made that it be re-committed to the Committee on Social Welfare.

ATTEMPT TO KILL BILL.

"The statement was made," said Representative Corrigan, "that the bill should be re-committed in order for further study as to whether or not the women and girls in seasonal occupations should be exempted from the beneficent provisions and whether the manufacturers should be required to keep a record of the past occupations of their women and girl employes.

"But when we got back into the committee room those provisions were discussed for but a moment when Senator Wilson of Bristol, who is an opponent of the eight-hour day for women and children, moved that the bill be referred to the next Legislature. It was an attempt to kill the bill.

"And they attempted to tie us up to an agreement that we would not tell the public what happened at that committee meeting. I, for one, will not agree to keep secret from my constituents what goes on in the transaction of the public's business."

Representative John T. Crowley of Abington also stated that an attempt was made to pledge the committeemen to secrecy during this executive session.

When Corrigan left the committee room, Messrs. Buttrick and Hill, the mill lobbyists, were standing in the corridor outside the room.

"What did you do?" said Buttrick.

"You know damned well what we did," said Corrigan.

The result of the committee's action is still in doubt. Senator Wilson's motion to refer the bill to the next Legislature resulted in a tie vote.

Wilson and Senator Hastings of Adams and Representatives Lord of Athol and Parry of Northbridge voted against the fifty-hour bill.

Representatives Frothingham of Lynn, Greenwood of Everett, Crowley of Abington and Corrigan of Natick voted for the bill.

Senator James J. Reading and Representative Dunkle of Boston were present, but did not vote. Representative McIntosh of Quincy was absent.

Mr. Corrigan, as clerk, is now polling the committee.

"Regardless of what the committee does, I will fight for the fifty-hour bill on the floor of the House," said Representative Greenwood, the House chairman of the committee.

DELAY ACTORS' BENEFIT TO GET LEADING STARS

The special performances in aid of the Actors' Fund which will be held at the Colonial Theatre, has been postponed from the announced date, Friday, April 26, to Tuesday, April 30. This postponement was necessitated because of the possibility of obtaining the services of two of the greatest stars of the legitimate drama who would not have found it feasible to attend on the first named date. These stars are Julia Arthur and E. H. Sothern, who will positively appear. The list of other entertainers is a long one, and Mr. Daniel Frohman, who is in charge of arrangements, freely predicts that this year's program will be a banner one. Seats that have been purchased for the first date will be good for the new date.

FRANKLIN LEADERS BOOM DEVENS FUND

Franklin, April 17.—The Boston AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Baseball Fund went up another $70 with the announcement of the proceeds of the dance given for the benefit of the fund by the selectmen and firemen.

Chief Ernest L. Metcalf of the fire department, who has charge of the money, said today the sum would probably be in excess of that amount, as all the collections were not in.

Filene's has the privilege of buying tobacco in Paris for soldiers

A welcome telegram has come from the Filene Paris office—"HAVE OBTAINED CIGARETTE BUYERS' PRIVILEGE Y. M. C. A. HERE. CAN FILL ORDERS." This means you can send tobacco to your boy in France by leaving your order at the Paris Shopping Desk, street floor balcony. No written request from a soldier is necessary.

Tobacco cannot be bought generally in Paris. Thanks to our government, there is plenty for our boys, but its distribution is directed by the Y. M. C. A., who have now made Filene's Paris soldier shopper one of its agents, because she is doing exactly what the Y. M. C. A. is doing.

WOMEN'S SUITS

The sketch shows a typical Filene tailormade for women at $30. The material is fine, long-wearing navy blue gabardine. The lining is so good it should wear two seasons.

Plenty of navy blue, plenty of mixtures and jersey suits, plenty of larger women's suits, new taffeta suits. Plenty of suits at $20, $22.50, $25, $30, $35, $40, $45, $50, $55, $60, $65 and $75.

Values are the strongest column in the Filene store.

Women's striped taffeta dresses, $12.50—Filene machine-made dress shop—$1.95 to $12.50, no higher. Sixth floor.

26 styles of $1 nightgowns; 28 styles of $1 envelope chemises; all fine and soft and dainty. Third floor.

Women's new foulard dresses, with long pointed Georgette tunics, $32.50. Sixth floor.

Misses' sleeveless linen riding habits, $18.50. Fourth floor.

Misses' hand-painted Georgette crepe blouses, $5.75. Fourth floor.

Misses' Georgette crepe dinner dresses, $18.50. Fourth floor.

Women's pure fibre sweaters, $15; fibre plated sweaters, $6. Fifth floor.

Girls' coats of unusually fine serge, tailored so carefully that collars can be worn high or low, 6 to 14 years, $12.50. Fourth floor.

Girls' hand-smocked chambray bloomer dresses, 6 to 12 years, $3.95. Fourth floor.

Girls' Athena union suits, 65c. About 12 dozen, carried over from last year and still marked at last year's lower price. Street floor.

Jumbo straw hats combined with navy blue.

Jumbo is that rough, shiny, popular straw that one expects to see tailored. The novelty of these hats is that the natural color straw is combined with navy blue Georgette crepe, ribbon or satin. One has a high bellcrest crown; another a drooping frilled edge. $7.50 and $9.50.

Filene's—Mail Orders Filled—Sixth Floor

WOMEN'S COATS

$45

Bolivia coats are the women's shop's chief claim to immortality. Because of scientific making the price has been kept down; since, although material costs more than it did a year ago, the tailors now turn out six coats a day each instead of four. Bolivia coats, fully lined, $35. Bolivia coats of the original beautiful quality, $45. One is sketched.

Raincoats, silk or wool, $8.75 to $29.50.

100,000 TONS OF COAL ARRIVE IN BOSTON

The arrival at this port since Sunday of a great fleet of steam colliers and barges has added nearly 100,000 tons of coal to Boston's supply. The greater part of the coal received is bituminous for manufacturing purposes and for the railroads. Of the total receipts 75,000 tons were bituminous and 25,000 were anthracite.

2,000 PARADE TO BOOM LIBERTY LOAN IN REVERE

A street parade marked the opening drive of Revere to raise its quota of $250,000 for the third Liberty Loan. More than 2,000 persons participated in the street demonstration, which was witnessed by some 20,000. The route included all principal streets of the city.

Andrew Herron, president of the Revere Trust Company, was marshal. The parade was headed by a 75-piece band, dressed in Uncle Sam suits, followed by Alfred Hall and the members of the City Council. The Grand Army contingent, a score of men under the command of Captain Emery Ames, and several companies of Home Guards followed.

Several hundred citizens completed the parade. Many automobiles were decorated with Liberty flags and red, white and blue bunting. Each car was provided with an American flag.

ACQUIT MRS. KESSLER IN SHOOTING CASE

After debating half an hour, a jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Mrs. Laura Kessler, accused of assault with intent to kill her husband, Dr. Isador H. Kessler, of Winthrop.

Mrs. Kessler testified that she fired the shot, which made a hole in her husband's hat and knocked it off, in self-defense, as her husband had attacked her in the throat and she was afraid of him.

Assistant District Attorney Stevens argued that the case was prejudged in this agreement, and because the district attorney's office did not hold themselves responsible for the young man he released the real issue was whether she should have taken the law into her own hands.

Miss Isadora Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Bliss, whose marriage to Anthony Sibley Carhart will take place late in June at the Bliss country home in New London.

By KATHERINE ALDEN.

The marriage of Miss Isadora Bliss and Anthony Sibley Carhart will take place the latter part of June at the Bliss country home, "The Wigwam," in New London. Miss Bliss is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Bliss of Commonwealth avenue. She is of the younger set of girls who came out a year ago at the same time with Mrs. Aimbala Beer, the first bride of that season; Mrs. Nell Rice and Mrs. Augustus Thorndike. Mr. Carhart, who is still at Harvard, is a New York man and makes his home with his sister on East Ninety-fifth street.

Miss Helen Bennett, sister of Miss Elizabeth Bennett, the president of the Vincent Club, has been the recipient of much attention since she has been visiting her older sister, Mrs. Thomas Cottman, at her country place at Wildwood, in the Green Spring Valley, near Baltimore. Last Wednesday afternoon she was the guest of honor at a tea given at the Baltimore Country Club by Miss Alice Whitridge, one of her girl friends. Miss Bennett was one of the girls who took the three months' course of training at the Brooklina Free Hospital for Women this Winter.

A wedding that has interest for Boston people was that of Miss Dorothy Dwight Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter, and Captain Harold E. H. Pardee, M. R. C., son of the late Dr. Ruskin H. Pardee of New York. The ceremony took place on Monday at Trinity Church, Howlett, L. I., and was performed by the Rev. Arthur Bumpus. There was a small reception at the country home of the bride's parents. The bride recently returned from France, where she was connected with the American Hospital at Neuilly, and with the Friday Field Hospital at Cugny. Captain Pardee is stationed at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.

TRAY OF DIAMONDS IS STOLEN FROM STORE

A tray of twenty-four diamonds, valued at $160 each, was stolen from Jason Weiler & Sons of No. 376 Washington street. Two men, who are believed to have made off with the gems, had been gone from the store for some time when, in checking up the stock, the loss was discovered.

The men went into the store, which is on the second floor, and asked a clerk for Mr. Weiler. Mr. Weiler showed them a number of stones and they finally went away saying that they had not quite decided and would come in again Wednesday or Thursday, when they would have more time to make a selection.

In checking up the goods it was found that a tray of diamonds was missing. Mr. Weiler then remembered the two strangers and settled it in his own mind that in some manner they had diverted his attention and had carried off the trayful of gems.

PHONE FOR MOVING TRAIN TEST PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Washington, April 17.—An official report from Moncton, N. B., just made public here, states that in the presence of officials of the Canadian Government railways and representatives of other Canadian lines, the McFarlane device, named after its inventor, W. W. McFarlane of Philadelphia, for voice transmission between a moving train and a dispatcher's office, has been given its public tests and demonstrated its efficiency.

The device worked successfully in connection with trunk line telephones in general commercial service and also between a car of the train and the locomotive.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, slow-crippled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk; and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause such torture.

Get a 25c cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.—Advertisement.

NUXATED IRON

Increases strength of delicate, nervous, run-down people in ten days' time in many instances. Used and highly endorsed by former United States Senators and Members of Congress, well-known physicians and former Public Health officials. Ask your doctor or druggist about it.

TAKE GERMAN NAMES OFF WORCESTER STREETS

Worcester, April 17.—The names of streets now bearing German names have been changed by the City Council as a result of a storm of protest and petitions drawn up by the residents and presented to the Council for action. Berlin street has been changed to Homer Wheaton street in honor of the first Emmet Guard member killed in action. Hamburg street has been changed to Genesse street, Hanover street to Clayton street, Dresden street to Orono street, and Brunswick street to Stockton Way.

Bourke square was named after Charles E. Bourke, a Worcester sailor who lost his life in an explosion on the U. S. S. Burrows, and Mulvehill square has been named after James Mulvehill, the second member of the Emmet Guards killed in action.

COX WILL ADDRESS OLD FIRST VOLUNTEERS

The twenty-fourth annual banquet and the fifty-seventh anniversary of the enlistment of Company C, Third Regiment, M. V. M. (the first volunteers), will be held tonight at Riverbank Court, Cambridge. Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge will preside. Speaker Channing H. Cox of the House of Representatives will be the principal speaker. Addresses will also be made by Captain Bernard E. Camden, in charge at the Rumkin Island Training Station; Major-General William A. Bancroft and Captain John Kinney, one of the surviving members of the "First Volunteers."

ARREST BROCKTON MAN FOR TAKING AUTOMOBILE

Officers of the City Hall avenue station arrested John Boyden of No. 337 Main street, Brockton, for the larceny of a touring car, valued at $1,400, from in front of No. 346 Purchase street. The machine is the property of John G. Herrington, who has offices in the building.

In the Morning TUDOR COFFEE Old and Mellow Golden Yellow

Tudor Coffee is ideal for those who cannot drink ordinary coffee, as it is mellowed with age before roasting.

Tudor Coffee is endorsed by Prof. Lewis B. Allen of Westfield, by Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen of "Good Housekeeping" magazine, and by leading physicians.

Although the price is a trifle higher, it is worth the difference when you consider the health and happiness of the family.

Every package bearing the Tudor trade-mark is guaranteed satisfactory. Dealers are authorized to return the money (without even the return of goods) upon request of the buyer.

KING PETER'S GUARD NOW IN NEW YORK

Bangor, April 17.—Among soldiers from European battlefields who passed through here was the officer who was selected to command the guard detailed to escort King Peter of Serbia to a place of safety when th Austrian bombardment made it necessary for the aged monarch to quit the royal palace in Belgrade. This officer is Lieutenant Pavle Yovanovitch, who wears upon his tunic the insignia of the Order of the White Eagle, which is equivalent to the British Distinguished Service Order, and the Order of the White Star, which corresponds to the Victoria Cross, besides several gold bars bestowed for service in the Balkan wars. His narrative of his country's sufferings and despoilment at the hands of the Teutonic hordes is a vivid word picture. He was on his way to New York, and after a few weeks will return to the battlefields.

WORCESTER DRAFTEE INJURED IN WRECK

Worcester, April 17.—Mrs. Esther Shrager of No. 95 Harrison street has been notified by the War Department that her son, Private Albert Enfager, was among those injured when a troop train on which he was riding from Camp Upton, Yaphank, Long Island, was wrecked. He was among those who left Worcester in the last draft quota for Camp Devens, and was later transferred to Camp Upton.

TEMPERANCE MEN PROTEST MALDEN PONY EXPRESS

Several hundred Malden temperance workers appeared before the aldermen to urge that no pony express licenses be granted in Malden this year. The applications for these licenses have resulted in increasing opposition every year by the prohibition element of the city.

Pershing Praises the Efforts of Young Church Workers

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCES.

France, March 4th, 1918.

To the Young People of the Churches of America.

I am glad to have the opportunity of sending you greetings and hearty approval of the concerted support the church forces of the country, through you, are giving the Government. The great active moral influence of the churches of America cannot fail to add power to the Nation.

After all it is to the young people, whose vision reaches far into the future, and whose aggressiveness of spirit gives force to their will, that the country looks for strength. Your efforts will serve to unite our people more closely in their determination to give the down-trodden throughout the world the same free democracy that we ourselves enjoy.

While the young people at home [illegible] to do their full part, the soldiers who represent [illegible] by your loyalty, may be depended upon to give a good account of themselves in this battle for the principles of liberty.

With very best wishes, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) JOHN J. PERSHING.

FROST HOSPITAL ABLE TO PAY ITS OWN WAY

Mayor Edward E. Willard of Chelsea was re-elected president of the Rufus G. Frost Corporation at a meeting held at the hospital on Bellingham street, Chelsea. According to President Willard's report, the hospital for the first time in many years, despite the high cost of necessaries, was self sustaining. Other officers elected were: Dennis A. O'Brien, vice-president; Oliver E. Wyeth, treasurer and Miss Emily Pine, superintendent. The board of trustees remains the same.

YANKEE TROOPS WIN PRAISE OF DR. POLING

Just Back from Trenches, Says They Are Doing Their Tasks Heroically

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, associate president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, is home in Boston, after having been gassed in the Foch drive, besides having the croix de guerre won by Lieutenant C. W. Patterson of Indiana, which he will deliver to the lieutenant's fiancee, a Boston girl.

During his five weeks in France, Dr. Poling visited every sector held by American troops, all the American camps and all the ports of entry. He was in a Y. M. C. A. hut when it was pierced by a German shell; he carried a wounded German prisoner back from the battle lines; he witnessed several air raids in London and the big raid of February 11 in Paris, when bombs were dropped in his streets only a short distance from him.

He bears a message from General Pershing to the young people of the churches of America, and brings also evidence in direct refutation of charges that have been made regarding the behavior of the American troops abroad.

MEN ABROAD SPLENDID.

"Our men abroad are splendid," he says. "You can't make that too strong. I have seen them suffering storms of shrapnel and the bitter frosty weather of France, working heroically at their tasks without any complaint. They are not men who brag of what they are going to do in France; they speak of what they are helping to do. The fraternization of the French and American forces is wonderful.

"I was ten days in the trenches, only a few hundred yards from the German lines. I was in the first gas attack made against the American troops and was gassed, though my case was not severe. I was also at the front when Germans made their first raid against American troops in the St. Mihiel sector.

"That is not a quiet sector on the French front. In four miles of trenches along the St. Mihiel front 20,000 Frenchmen gave their lives in some of the fiercest fighting of the war. A little graveyard lies between the battle lines there now, and wooden crosses mark the last resting place of a number of French soldiers.

"Lieutenant Patterson, who won the croix de guerre which I have brought to America, was the first American officer to receive the honor. A few privates were similarly honored at the same time.

"I was at battalion headquarters when Captain Hoover, the first infantry captain to be killed, was struck by a German shell. Six men were killed by a high explosive shell just eighty-three paces from me, and I assisted those who were wounded by the same shot. Archie Roosevelt was wounded in the exact spot where I was stationed two days before.

"The Y. M. C. A. men are doing splendid work at the front, and take the same risks that the men in the trenches take. No one is further in advance except when the men go over the top.

"A little story illustrates the spirit of our men. German shock troops were sent against us in the first raid that was made on our trenches. Our men did not go over the top while I was in the front line; they were keeping the Germans from doing it. On the day of that raid, a red-headed sergeant in the regular army spoke to me.

"'You know, I saw a Dutchman today,' he said. 'I saw him from about the elbows up. I'm a pretty good shot, and I didn't see him again. But ever since I'm wondering whether he had a wife and kids. I have, and I hope he wasn't in the same fix.'

"That is the type of men whom we are sending to France."

PROUD OF AMERICANS.

Dr. Poling went abroad to investigate moral conditions among the troops and was given permission to visit practically any part of the front he wished. He denied vigorously that the behavior of the Americans in France is bad.

"Our men are not saints," he admits; "just Americans, but they are the pick of America. We have every reason to be proud of them."

He favors war prohibition strongly and believes that it may make all the difference between defeat and victory.

Dr. Poling also has a letter from Lloyd George, expressing great interest in the program for war prohibition. He will speak in Tremont Temple at 8 p. m., April 23.

WANT PROVIDENCE TO HAVE POLICE WOMEN

Providence, April 14.—The question of policewomen is being furthered by club women who say they will ask the police commissioners what disposition they made of the recommendation of the city government for the appointment of women police.

Several months ago, the commissioners stated they had no funds. The women say they will insist on the appointment of females, "funds or no funds."

URGE RHODE ISLAND TO PASS DRUG ACT

Providence, April 17.—Reputable physicians lobbied at the State House and appeared before committees to urge the Massachusetts drug act, said to be buried in committee.

Edward J. Doss, Internal Revenue agent, begged the members of the House Judiciary committee to pass the act, as he said Rhode Island is a mecca for drug addicts from Massachusetts as a result of stringent laws against the traffic. Doss told the members that conditions are critical and the U. S. Government is unable to stamp out the traffic under the present lack of laws.

NO REPORT OF COLLIER CYCLOPS IN WEST INDIES

New York, April 17.—The mystery attending the disappearance of the United States collier Cyclops was intensified on the arrival of a British steamer from West Indian ports. Hailing the Cyclops commander said he had called at many ports from St. Thomas north and that the first he had heard of the disappearance of the Cyclops was when he reached an American port.

His sighting no wreckage nor did he pick up any radio messages concerning the Cyclops.

"Wash it out thoroughly first"

"Don't worry," the lady upstairs said, "wash it out thoroughly—there won't be any trouble if you just keep it perfectly clean. Have you any Lifebuoy in the house? That's just the thing. Wash it with that and it will heal right up."

What makes the broken skin smart so is foreign matter or perspiration, with its acids, getting into it. To make the skin heal, both of these must be thoroughly removed.

There is in Lifebuoy an antiseptic solution which, in washing, is carried right into the pores of the skin. In addition to thoroughly cleansing, this antiseptic purifies and protects.

The importance of protection

You know the modern idea on Health. Today every authority teaches that the way to be healthy, to keep well, is to protect the body from sickness.

Keeping the skin healthy is especially important. The skin regulates the heat of the body. To keep your body at the right temperature, your skin throws off about two pints of perspiration every twenty-four hours.

If not thoroughly removed, this perspiration forms acids, accumulates, with other impurities, in the pores, clogs them and prevents the skin from throwing off further waste matter.

The clearer, the fresher your skin is, the more important it is to keep it in good condition. Guard it—protect it—make Lifebuoy a habit—and keep your skin healthy.

The odor tells you why

The "health" odor in Lifebuoy is found in no other soap. It is not a perfume—not the odor of a medicine—but a pure, hygienic odor that tells you instantly why the soap benefits your skin. Stimulating, Invigorating, refreshing! One whiff of Lifebuoy, and you realize why it cleanses so thoroughly—why it purifies and protects.

Begin to use the "health" soap today for your face, hands and bath. Get a cake at any grocery or drug store. Start today and watch your skin improve.

at last reached her stride and was heading for an overwhelmingly.

To see less than a third of the duration of the present campaign both the nation's total and New England's total should approximate a total of this amount needed to float the loan succeed.

The total subscriptions reported for the eighth day were $16,744,500, 422 more of $11 active banks being represented.

The total number of individual subscriptions was 11,000, an increase for the day of 26,051.

The total subscriptions for the day for Boston was $8,114,500, giving Boston a grand total of $78,150,000 over all, from which $8,800,000 has been deducted to be subtracted as already credited by transfer to other communities, or to be credited to Boston from other cities owing to requests made by subscribers buying in Boston, Bonds, banks.

STATE TOTALS GROW.

Massachusetts again contributed nearly 80 per cent. of the day's subscriptions, a total of $12,562,000. Rhode Island, $1,001,000; Maine, $527,000; Connecticut, $491,000; New Hampshire, $442,000; Vermont, $161,000.

Maine has now subscribed within $500,000, or nearly 75 per cent., of a total of $6,015,000.

Massachusetts' total is $46,774,000, about 35 per cent. of its quota. Connecticut, $13,881,000; Rhode Island, $6,894,000; New Hampshire, $3,685,000; Vermont, $2,401,000.

The Boston Trades Committee today received a report of $344,000 additional from the Boston Real Estate Exchange, making a total to date for that body of $1,346,000.

The American Can Company took $1,000,000, credited to New England.

The Cotton Trade reported additional subscriptions of $518,750.

Willett, Keach & Co. added $5,400 additional from 124 subscribers.

The Tobacco Trade has to date reported a total of $120,000 from 423 subscribers.

REPORT 100 PER CENT. SALES.

The Quaker Oats Company report 100 per cent. sales to all employes of the New England sales force, with a total of $8,150. This goes to the Flour and Grain Trade.

United States Worsted Company have bought $500,000 of Third Loan.

Eighteen more places in New England sent word today that they had passed their quota and rallied for an Honor Flag.

At the top of this list is the Charlestown Navy Yard, which reports 4,278 subscriptions and a total considerably over the $200,000 quota allotted to it three days ago.

Among the others are: Milford, N. H., $77,000; Westmoreland, N. H., $10,000; Middlebury, Vt., $26,700; Newington, Conn., $14,000; Wethersfield, Conn., $18,500; Portland, Conn., $15,750; Stockton Springs, Me., $11,100; Unity, Me., $400; Montville, Me., $5,200; Prospect, Me., $3,000; New London, N. H., $10,000; New Boston, N. H., $2,000 over its quota of $16,000; Hudson, N. H., $12,800; Greenland, N. H., $10,000; Durham, N. H., $5,100.

Upton and Mansfield, Me., also report over-subscription.

Bangor reported that it would be over its quota by night.

Twelve towns in New England have already gone on the line of those which have added stars to the bars on their Home Flag. Each blue star awarded by the Honor Flag Committee indicates a subscription of 100 per cent. over the quota of the town.

TWO STAR TOWNS.

Brentwood and Bennington, in New Hampshire, and Ashby, in this State, are the towns which today have the distinction of having added two stars.

The one star towns are: Weston, Meredith and Marlboro, New Hampshire; Milton, Vermont; Mattawamkeag, Greenwood, Monhegan, Milbridge, Maine, and Montville, Connecticut.

The total of communities in New England which have passed their quota is now 206 in all. Of the New Hampshire list are Exeter, Dover, Laconia, Manchester, Nashua, Portsmouth, Rochester and Somersworth, all with a quota well over $1,000,000 and all registered over-subscription. The State is undoubtedly far in the lead in percentage of over-subscriptions to total numbers of communities.

Milford's big Liberty Loan rally of Tuesday night at which the Honor Flag was first raised, put the total for the town's subscriptions up to $1,085,000, against the quota of $955,000.

The Honor Flag rally in Canton in the same way effected an increase in the total subscription in the first town to Norfolk County to go over the top, to $356,000, as against a quota of $300,000.

DAILY REMINDERS NOW.

The men in the Fore River shipyards are celebrating jubilantly. At 3 p. m. today they figured on $517,000 worth of subscriptions as against a quota of $500,000.

The Wetmore-Savage Company of Boston report total subscription of $45,150 from 120 persons employed by the corporation, 100 per cent. of the force. This is the first total for the third loan.

The Boston Y. M. C. A. has bought $5,000 of the third loan.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association of Boston reports 154 subscriptions, with a total of $22,750. The Young Women's Hebrew Association, 175 subscriptions, $4,000.

Every household in New England which receives its milk from delivery wagons is being reminded of the loan upon taking in its daily supply. On the top of each milk bottle is a little disc bearing the red, white and blue bullseye and the inscription, "Remember the Institution—Buy Liberty Bonds." The wise housekeeper will see that these are not thrown away, but save for use in bringing the bonds before any other possible buyer.

Mayor Leads Loan Rally at Gilchrist's: $120,000 in Bonds

Mayor Peters told shoppers at the Gilchrist store, in opening a bond sale at the Liberty Loan booth, that ships and equipment for the army are vitally necessary to win the war, and appealed to the crowd of several hundred persons to give every assistance in their power to the country.

As he rang the Liberty bell to announce the beginning of the bond sale, Joseph Flaherty of Roxbury was first in line in front of the booth. He bought a $100 bond.

Mrs. L. Cushing Goodhue, chairman of the Liberty Bond booths in department stores, presided at the sale and was assisted by Mrs. Harris Levermore, captain of the bond committee, and by a group of uniformed girls from the store.

At the latest tabulation the Gilchrist Company had sold $120,350 worth of bonds and had received many pledges. The figure for bond sales was largely increased today.

The Mayor, in his address, commended the spirit of the shoppers.

"We are facing such a crisis now that the people must make a tremendous sacrifice," he said. "The money that we have been saving we must loan to the government, if America is to be a haven for all people in the future. Our President, God bless him, is occupied with the gigantic task of changing this country from its peaceful way to one of war and we must stand back of him. We must stand back of our boys on the firing line in France, and let them see that we at home are imbued with the same great determination to win."

3,000 Jordan Marsh Employes in Parade and Rally for Loan

One of the largest and most enthusiastic Liberty Loan demonstrations yet held was given by the employes of the Jordan Marsh Company, who paraded through the streets to the Shubert Theatre, where a rally was held.

Previous to this demonstration, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, screen and legitimate stars, sold $15,000 worth of bonds in two hours at the Jordan Marsh store.

More than 1,000 of the employes of the store paraded to the theatre led by the Salvation Army band. A service flag with 152 stars, a roll of honor, the Stars and Stripes and the state flag were carried at the head of the procession.

At the theatre there were five speeches by Major M. S. Hoskin of the Canadian army; Rev. F. W. Tuohey, Roxbury; Public Speaker James P. Carragan and Pliny Jewell of the Liberty Loan Committee. The speakers were seated on the stage together with President George W. Mullen, Manager Wrigley, treasurer of the company, Superintendent W. A. Hawkins, W. D. Williamsburg, Richard M. Jones.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTINUE BUILDING WOODEN SHIPS

Washington, April 17.—The Shipping Board has modified its intention not to continue its wooden ship program beyond its present program of eight ships and machinery for the wooden ships. It is announced that only the 3,500-ton Ferris type ship was to be abandoned, and a standard 4,700-ton wooden ship would continue to be built.

The large vessel conforms with the contention of the Southern Pine Association that such a ship can be built without using the long timbers required by the Ferris type, which has been the subject of controversy and cause of delay in the wooden ship program.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Well Known Lady Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair By a Simple Home Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home-made remedy, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp; is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."

The Benefit of the Old Low Prices

BY low prices I mean the retail prices quoted by me which were based upon the manufacturers' prices before war conditions operated to raise the costs to dealers all over the country.

—I have in my various storage depots new uprights and player pianos bought several months back.—In view of Government regulation of the piano business, which seems to me an immediate shortage, I would be justified in raising my prices and taking the extra profit.—But—until such a time as I have exhausted my present stock—I will continue the J. P. Collins policy of low prices and big sales.—Get my price before buying any make piano, any place at any time.—Let me help save you $100 or $200.—Try me.

PRO-GERMAN BOY AT LYNN ROUSES SAILORS

Only the extreme youth of Stratis Deinos, a fifteen-year-old clerk in a Market street candy store in Lynn, saved him from rough treatment at the hands of two sailors, when he is said to have expressed strong pro-German sentiments. The sailors, who were Donald Thayer and Alfred Mooney of the U. S. S. Malay, complained to policemen who questioned the boy. The sailors entered the store at No. 160 Market street, and according to the story they told the police, asked for some candy. With no provocation young Deinos declared that the allies and United States were no good, the sailors said, and that Germany would give them an awful beating.

BOLO ACCUSES OTHERS AS HE IS SHOT

By International News Service.

Paris, April 17.—Bolo Pasha was executed last night. The execution took place at Vincennes. In his last few living days Bolo made important revelations which are said to involve others.

Those said to have been involved are Senator Humbert and Former Premier Caillaux, according to the Temps.

Caillaux was taken to Bolo's cell and confronted with his accuser. The meeting was marked by a number of highly dramatic incidents.

The same court that condemned Bolo also passed sentence of death on Edwin Italian assistant, Duvallon, and accountant Porchere. Bolo's secretary, to hard years imprisonment.

Bolo was specifically accused of entering into communication with the enemy through the ex-minister of Egypt, receiving money from Germany to further a pacifist movement, having endeavored in 1915 to buy shares in the Figaro with money of German origin and having furnished Humbert with money for the same purpose.

Bolo appealed from the death sentence but the appeal was denied. A reprieve was granted by President Poincare to allow the condemned man to make a confession.

RAILROAD WAGE BOARD TO GRANT INCREASE

Washington, April 17.—The report of the Railroad Wage Commission has been completed and is ready for issue, Director-General McAdoo's inspection upon his return from the Lakeside headquarters today. Reports that the commission would recommend an increase of from 50,000 to 70,000 have been confirmed, but it is believed the recommendations will carry increases that will meet the expectations of the men.

The Great War Tank

that has been making the Boston war-pulse beat quicker, is a striking example of what FORCE means in world-quarrels.

We Bostonians who can't go to war have trooped here and there, standing for hours on the curb, awaiting a glimpse of this gigantic bludgeon of warfare.

How many of us have reached into pocket or purse, heard the tinkle of coin, and stopped to realize that between our fingers was FORCE thousands of times greater than the big bludgeon war tank?

Take these tinkling coins with others like them, BUY LIBERTY BONDS, and you have sent hurtling against the barbarous foe a FORCE INVINCIBLE.

Movements such as the present Liberty Loan campaign are the only ones making possible the wiping out of history's most cruel murderers.

You may buy your LIBERTY BONDS here on easiest terms.

CAN'T DECIDE ON BANANA KING'S FINANCES

Wife Wants $50 a Week and Court Passes That Part of Case to a Master

After spending about an hour listening to conflicting testimony as to the financial ability of Frank V. Arancio, known as the "Banana King," and his wife Charlotte, Judge Chase in the equity motion session of the superior court decided that a master must find the facts relating to that branch of the case before the court would pass upon the motion of Mrs. Arancio that her husband be ordered to pay $50 a week for the support of herself and young daughter, pending action upon a libel brought by Mrs. Arancio. She accuses her husband of infidelity and names two women.

Since Mr. Arancio and his wife separated in November last he has given his wife $10 a week, paid all the household bills and other expenses and had given her credit at two stores.

Arancio, who is living at the Hotel Napoli, says his only income is $40 a week which he receives as salary as the fruit superintendent of which his father, brother and himself are the owners, and that he could not afford to pay Mrs. Arancio $50 a week that she suggested for her counsel as a compromise sum.

Mrs. Arancio says it is impossible for her to get along on less than $50 a week, and that she has been able to maintain herself and child recently only because of assistance from her mother.

1,000 SAILORS TO BE IN PATRIOTS' DAY MARCH

Receiving Ship to Send Three Battalions—Daniels May Visit Pier

By PAUL F. WHELTON.

Aboard the Receiving Ship at Boston, April 17.—The pier ships will be well represented in the parade on next Friday, Patriots' Day, approximately one-third of its roster being scheduled to fall in line when the starting gun booms. Three battalions, comprising in all more than 1,000 men, will participate, probably under command of Captain W. A. Edgar.

Intensive formation and company drill, under the direction of Lieutenant M. H. Mezigo, a recent arrival aboard ship, has been drawing large crowds this week to the drill grounds at D street below the viaduct. The blue-jackets, accompanied by the ship's band, have been put through their paces in two-hour afternoon sessions.

If Commander Edgar is not in the works for the Pier sailors during the parade, Lieutenant P. C. Carlton, executive officer, will be in the lead-er's position. Practically all the officers will march and the receiving ship representatives will furnish one of the best spectacles in the parade.

The drill of the sailors for the march has not yet been announced and it is not known whether dress blues or whites will be donned.

There is much speculation also as to whether Secretary of the Navy Daniels will pay a visit to the receiving ship on the occasion of his visit to Boston on Friday to take part in the day's observances, but if such is his intention it will not be known until he puts in a sudden appearance.

Editorial.

The people of Boston and other cities and towns in Massachusetts on Friday will have their first opportunity to see the young men they have sent into the National Army parading as units outside of Camp Devens. Their appearance should cause these same people to stop and ponder.

It should make them think of where the money is coming from that makes possible the training of these young men: The money that furnishes clothing and equipment, and the money that is to keep them fed, clothed and equipped when they are overseas fighting that those at home may continue to live in the realm of liberty and democracy.

This money is coming from the sale of Liberty Bonds, and the longer the war continues the more bonds must be sold. Thousands upon thousands more young men are being called to the colors, and they need the same support.

There is a way you can do your bit without fighting. Buy a bond.

You help yourself by helping the soldiers, and you cannot afford to withhold your support in the present crisis.

DROP EXERCISES AT OFFICERS' GRADUATION

Training School Students Too Busy to Bother With Formalities

Camp Devens, April 17.—The successful candidates at the third officers' training school are scheduled to graduate on Friday, and today it was declared that formal graduation exercises would be eliminated. The men will probably be granted a short furlough after their strenuous training and upon their return to duty will return to their original camps, or those to which they have been assigned, to await the awarding of the commissions from Washington.

Today the candidates were scheduled to work out an outpost problem that would take them far into the night, and tomorrow they are expected to stage the final hand-to-hand on the assault course back of the base hospital.

The candidates who are not assigned to units in the 76th Division are expected to continue their course of instructions for a short time after graduation. Most of these men belong to the depot brigade or quartermaster corps.

Several dinners are to be held by the various companies in the school tomorrow and Friday night, to which the officers have been invited. Major-General Harry F. Hodges will address the candidates in the Liberty Theatre on Saturday.

Seventy negroes found unfit for service in any capacity were due to be paid off today and sent back to the South. These represent the first of colored draftees sent here to be discharged from the service, and more are expected to be released. Y. M. C. A. hut No. 25 has been turned over to the negroes.

Major Robert L. Whipple of the 301st Engineer Regiment has been detailed as instructor of engineers and co-ordination in the division band, and Major George Hinkley of Virginia has been assigned to the unit.

The demolition squad of the 301st Engineers is dynamiting stumps in the regimental parade field, and at the same time receiving practical instruction in the use of explosives.

SOLDIERS LOSE CHANCE FOR A LONG VISIT

Army Rule Forbids Boys Staying from Camp Over Saturday and Sunday

Camp Devens, April 17.—Major-General Harry F. Hodges has decided that the soldiers of Boston's Own" regiment who go to Boston to parade on Friday will not be permitted to remain in the city over the week-end, as Governor McCall requested. There is a military rule which prohibits an army unit from remaining away from its post for more than twenty-four hours at a time unless it is engaged upon a special military mission.

The news came as a keen disappointment to the soldiers in the regiment, as they had counted upon being home with their families and friends on Saturday and Sunday.

It is also said that candidates in the third officers' training school would not take part in the parade.

The cantonment will be practically deserted on Friday, as several other units of the 76th Division are scheduled to take part in Liberty Loan parades in other cities and towns in New England.

The Old Colony Regiment, commanded by Colonel Charles C. Smith, is going to Fall River. A detail of men from the depot brigade and the depot brigade band are due to march in Fitchburg. A company of the 302d machine gun battalion is going to Haverhill, and B Company of the same unit to Lawrence. The 301st ammunition train parades in Greenfield. The 317th field signal battalion will be in Boston on Saturday to receive a flag from the State.

Eight hundred men were transferred from the depot brigade into the three artillery regiments of the 76th division today and more rookies were shifted out of the brigade into the division infantry regiments.

This was the first real step toward filling the division to its fighting strength. The division is expected to receive its full quota by June 1.

A battle royal among some of the colored draftees is scheduled to be staged at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tonight.

SOUTH BOSTON WOMAN'S FLAG HAS THREE STARS

Mrs. Lawrence J. Clark, of M street, South Boston, has the honor of three service stars floating from her home. Two sons and a son-in-law are in the service of Uncle Sam. George is in the aviation section in Georgia; Mathew, in the coast artillery stationed at Jamestown, R. I., and her son-in-law, Elmer Ehrlers, is a petty officer on the U. S. S. Nebraska.

"PIONEER INFANTRY" NEW ARMY DIVISION

Washington, April 17.—Men called in the next draft will be given an opportunity to join a new division of the engineering corps, to be known as the "Pioneer infantry." This branch will be the first of the new branches in the army created by the needs of modern warfare. The pioneer infantrymen not only will be trained as engineers skilled in building roads, bridges and trenches, but they will be given special training in open warfare.

The men chosen for this service will wear a special insignia of two crossed guns with a superimposed letter P.

U. S. BALLOON MAKES SUCCESSFUL TRIAL TRIP

Stamford, Conn., April 17.—A successful experimental trip of three ensigns in a United States naval aviation corps free balloon of the non-dirigible type terminated here with the landing of the balloon, which had started from Rockaway, L. I., two hours and twenty minutes earlier. The huge bag measured 600 by 30 feet. In it were Ensigns John Schwab, pilot; G. E. Lambet, assistant pilot, and Z. H. Patterson, passenger. While traveling over Long Island Sound at twenty-five miles an hour, driven by a southwest wind, they were obliged to throw out all the ballast to avoid dropping into the water. The balloon attained a maximum of 2,500 feet.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON WROTE:

THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C.

My dear MISS CARLISLE:—

I am going to take the liberty of telling you how much pleasure you and your associates gave Mrs. Wilson and me the other evening in the admirable presentation of "THE COUNTRY COUSIN." We particularly admired the simplicity, sincerity and dignity with which you played your own very interesting part. May I not congratulate you on doing admirably well a thing that was thoroughly worth doing? The play is delightful and you played the chief part in making it so.

Sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON.

EX-PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT SAID:

Speaking from His Box at the Galety Theatre, New York.

Ex-Pres. Roosevelt Said: "THE COUNTRY COUSIN' is a first class American play. It emphasizes the lesson that I have been trying to teach for such a long time. It is a splendid argument for universal military training. All of the men in this play, including George Tewksberry Reynolds, would have been better men had they shared the same dog tent with each other and eaten the same food. I want to congratulate MR. TARKINGTON and MR. STREET for having written 'THE COUNTRY COUSIN' and the actors who so capably present it."

The Greatest Demonstration Ever Seen in a Boston Theatre

Enthusiasm burst forth at the Majestic Theatre last night in the greatest demonstration ever witnessed in a Boston playhouse.

Cheers and shouts of praise made the Majestic ring with a vibration that will be felt in the front line trenches of France.

It was the first Boston presentation of D. W. Griffith's mighty production, "Hearts of the World," and the reception accorded this master work has stamped it the highest achievement in the history of vivid drama.

Boston endorsed the approval of Los Angeles and New York, and by thunderous applause and cheers that could be heard for blocks gave "Hearts of the World" a reception that was unmistakable in its enthusiasm, warmth and absolute sincerity.

The audience was one of the most notable ever assembled in this city. There was not an inch of standing room. From every section of the theatre, from boxes and gallery seats alike, came cries of enthusiasm over the tremendous scenes presented by America's master producer.

"Hearts of the World" is more than a masterpiece—it is a miracle. Its romance of the great war will live in history. Its battle scenes were taken on the battlefields of France by permission of the British and French War Offices. You must see this production.

Positively not more than six seats to any one purchaser without credentials. Avoid speculators when you come to the box office. Buy your seats direct from the Majestic Theatre.

TRUCKS TO HELP SPEEDING UP AFTER WAR

Autos Will Be Auxiliary to Railroads in Distribution, Says Expert

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

The enormous purchase of trucks due to the war has set some people wondering what use can be made of them after the war is over. The solution seems quite simple, according to L. H. Chapman, local manager for the Boston Federal Truck Co. of Cambridge. He also says that, just as government ownership of railroads is practically with us now, the proper supervision of motor trucks as auxiliaries to the railroads in assisting the reconstruction of industry after the war, will come as a matter of course. In speaking of this condition Mr. Chapman quotes Martin L. Pulcher, general manager of the Federal Truck Co.

In a recent letter Mr. Pulcher said: "Everybody knows that serious difficulties encountered last year in connection with the railroad tie-ups were caused by congestion at the terminals. And it is to be feared that the serious traffic tie-ups will again be encountered next Winter, if some positive steps are not taken to relieve this congestion at the terminals.

"One newspaper points out that delivery of FARM from the depots should be handled just as delivery of mail and parcel post is handled—promptly and efficiently. There is no doubt as to the reasonableness of this view.

"The remedy is something that cannot wait until after the war is over, however, and motor trucks, which are the logical means of delivery from terminals, should be put into use at the earliest possible moment and in generous numbers. The aid thus given the railroads should permit them to go through next Winter without anything like as serious a congestion problem as that which caused trouble the latter part of last Winter."

It is well understood, according to Mr. Pulcher, that the Postoffice Department is now endeavoring to work out a system whereby motor trucks may be used for delivering parcel post along the rural routes, and in a manner that will insure the handling of much heavier and much more bulky packages than are now permitted for shipment via parcel post.

"So there need be no fear that the government will have too many trucks on its hands," continued Mr. Pulcher. "All of the trucks which will be taken out of war work when peace is finally attained, and more, too, can well be used by the government in speeding up."

CREDIT MEN TO ORGANIZE FOR BIG CONVENTION

The Retail Credit Men's Association of Boston will this evening hold a ladies' night at the Hotel Somerset. A pleasing entertainment has been arranged, and Judge Michael J. Murray will be the principal speaker. The National Association of Credit Men will meet in Boston in August. CREDIT MEN TO ORGANIZE FOR BIG CONVENTION

The Retail Credit Men's Association of Boston will this evening hold a ladies' night at the Hotel Somerset. A pleasing entertainment has been arranged, and Judge Michael J. Murray will be the principal speaker. The National Association of Credit Men will meet in Boston in August. Tonight's meeting will give the wives and friends of members of the local association an opportunity to make plans for work in connection with the convention.

Common Sense About Water Power

And Common Sense Legislation About the People's Rights

Copyright, 1918, by the Star Company

Ask yourself "Whence comes the water power that, properly used, could heat and light every house in the big cities and do all the work done by steam?"

After you have answered the question you will realize that water power certainly must belong to God Almighty, who made it, or to the CROWD of people that He put down here to use it.

It certainly ought not to belong to the first cunning individual that sees it and proceeds to harness it up and say, "That's mine."

Mere man has nothing to do with it. It is the force of the sun that lifts the water into the air, it is the power of gravitation, as it falls, that gives it value.

Could there be anything more preposterous than to allow a private individual to say "I own Niagara Falls," or allow some private corporation to say "I own the power of the Potomac River near Washington—therefore, I should harness it and charge other men for permission to use it."

Is there a doubt that the PEOPLE, all of them combined, should own this natural force that nature gives to all the people?

Read a letter from Gifford Pinchot, one well to do who violates firmly established traditions of United States finance, interesting himself in things that interest the public:

The twelve-year fight to keep the nation's water power from rapture by the power monopolists is at last on the verge of being won. The Administration Water Power bill, now before Congress, opens the way to save for the people of the United States their most valuable natural asset. Some fifty million water horsepower is at stake.

The bill in question was formulated under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of War, and the Secretary of the Interior, was submitted to the President for his approval, and recently put forward as an Administration measure. It deals with water power in national forests, public lands, Indian lands, and navigable streams. A special committee of the House has been created to consider it.

It is an admirable measure, drawn with thorough knowledge and unusual skill. The principles essential for the wise use and development of our public water powers in the public interest are all embodied in it.

In my letter to you of November 16, 1917, I urged your support of the following seven definite principles in water power legislation:

1. The thing to do with water power is to develop it. Whatever retards or restricts the development of public water powers on terms fair to the public is against public policy and hostile to the general welfare.

2. Water power belongs to the people. The sites where it is produced should always be held in public hands, for only so can effective control in the general interest be secured.

3. Where public development is not desired, the right to use water power sites should be leased for periods long enough to permit sound, attractive, and profitable investment, but never longer than fifty years. At the end of each lease all rights should return to the people who gave them.

4. In order to protect the consumer against extortion, rates and service should be regulated by Federal authority when State or local authorities fail to do so.

5. Reasonably prompt and complete developments and continuous operation, subject to market conditions, should be required. Already millions of water horse power are held out of use in further monopoly by private corporations.

6. Corporations or individuals who make money out of rights granted by the people should share their profits with the people.

7. The public has a right to complete information about every business based on the use of public property.

It is a real pleasure to tell you that every one of these principles is fully safeguarded in the Administration's Water Power bill. What remains, therefore, is for Congress to put this measure through without delay.

The Administration Water Power bill will first come before the House of Representatives, where an effort will certainly be made to amend it in the interest of the power interests. If that fails, the water power lobbyists will endeavor to have the indefensible provisions of the Shields bill substituted in the Senate for the Administration bill. Beaten in that, they will fall back upon the formula of obstruction and delay they have used so successfully for the last ten years.

This measure is practical, fair, and wise. The friends of conservation should insist that their friends in Congress shall give their prompt and full support to the Administration Water Power bill, and shall see to it that it is passed without emasculation, substitution, or postponement. It is of vital interest to our country while the war is on, and will be equally important after the war is over.

The passage of this law will secure to the American people forever vast resources whose use for the good of all will make this land a safer and a better place to live in. All the forces of conservation are behind it. I urge you to give the Administration Water Power bill your strongest approval and support. Sincerely yours,

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The waterfall of the country should as rapidly as possible be harnessed.

The work that the Government can do in this direction is limited. The work that private enterprise can do is almost unlimited.

Therefore, under proper restrictions, private initiative should be encouraged to use this power that goes to waste—reserving only to the people the right to take back the power and use it as a public force, with fair payment for money invested, and terms agreed upon in advance.

The letter which you have read, giving an idea of the legislation now planned by the Administration, legislation so different from that suggested by the ordinary corporation administration, should have your support.

Write to your Congressman and your Senator and tell him what you think about it.

Lighting of the City

The citizens of Boston certainly appreciate the service rendered by City Councillor Ford and the representatives of organized labor at the recent meeting of the Boston City Council when they brought out evidence tending to show that under Ex-Mayor Curley's four years as Mayor no watch was kept by the city over the amount of light which the Consolidated Gas Company was supplying to the city.

Under the contract between the city and the gas company the gas company agreed to supply the city with a certain specified amount of light every day. To see that the amount was actually supplied the city was accustomed to have inspectors observe the light daily. It is charged that under Mayor Curley this inspection was for four years neglected and that in consequence the city received very much less light than it paid for. It is said that the loss, estimated in dollars and cents, was not less than $200,000. This is rather a remarkable gift from a city supposed to be groaning under the weight of its financial burdens to a corporation which has enjoyed the recent prosperity of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company.

The AMERICAN wonders how carefully the light the Edison Electric Light Company is supposed to supply to the city under its contract is being watched.

ELIZABETH JORDAN'S ARTICLE

In Which the Talented Writer Discloses Her Knowledge of How Love Makes Us Feel in Answer to a Passionate Young Swain Who Confesses to Ninety-three Birthdays

By Elizabeth Jordan

NOT long ago a young lady named Mabel wrote and asked me what love is.

"Don't tell us how it makes us feel," she added, "just tell us what it is."

Thus directed, I endeavored to approach the subject from Mabel's impersonal viewpoint. In the Boston AMERICAN recently, I defined love—very carefully keeping away from any discussion of how it makes us feel.

I mentioned to Mabel at the time that her detachment from this phase of the subject was unusual. This impression is confirmed by the hundreds of letters I have received since the article appeared.

From every part of this country, from every class of American newspaper readers, I have received letters about love. Without exception, every correspondent has asked me to write another article telling how love makes us feel.

One letter came from a man of ninety-three—and it was a most interesting and delightful letter. Many others, of course, came from schoolgirls. They didn't ask to be told how love makes us feel. Like Mabel, they already knew. What they wanted was to discover whether I knew.

Taken altogether, the evidence of interest in the subject is very impressive. To ignore a request from so many friends is impossible. Here and now I am about to tell how love makes us feel—and I hope Mabel will forgive me for doing so.

To simplify the matter we will consider an individual case—the case of Arabella, a typical girl—who is falling in love.

Arabella's first emotion is a sudden, unexpected interest in a certain young man. To an impartial eye he may be a very ordinary young man, a young man who looks like hundreds of other young men. Arabella herself may have looked upon him half a dozen times without seeing that he was at all out of the common.

Then, one day, something happened. On the surface it seemed nothing unusual. Perhaps, in a group of laughing friends, Arabella and the young man unexpectedly found themselves exchanging an understanding smile. (Since the world began millions of love affairs have begun with the exchange of a smile.)

Perhaps their eyes were suddenly caught and held in one of the long looks that begin casually and end with a quickened heartbeat.

Perhaps they themselves have no exact knowledge of the moment when their hearts were set afire. Arabella only knows that suddenly a matter-of-fact young man, with a round face and blue eyes, has become of deep and vital interest to her.

At the same time, he has ceased to be a matter-of-fact young man. Last week she may have realized that perhaps he was a little overweight, and that his taste in ties was not always to be relied upon.

This week everything about him is exactly right. He is an Adonis. His clothes suit him to perfection. The way he parts his hair has an extraordinary charm.

In other words, Arabella's imagination is now working overtime in behalf of the matter-of-fact young man. If she is too sane to be wholly blind to his imperfections, she deliberately concentrates her attention on those details about him which she can admire. She loves the way he walks, the way he smiles, the way he throws back his head and laughs. For hours at a time she sits as in a dream, recalling these things.

From this point life to Arabella becomes an experience of extraordinary interest. We are assuming, of course, that the young man is attracted, too, and that Arabella knows it.

From this moment the world becomes to Arabella a planet inhabited by two human beings and millions of shadows.

She would resent being told this. She claims to be interested in many persons and subjects. Perhaps she thinks she is. But as a matter of fact Arabella is vitally interested and vitally alive only during the hours when she is in the company of that young man.

Between these occasions she may be said to be in a condition of suspended animation. She is simply waiting until he comes again. Incidentally she is going through the necessary motions of daily life. She is working, meeting her friends, talking to them, smiling at them. But her mind holds just one subject.

Again and again she recalls every word he said the last time he came, and every word she said. She thinks of countless things she might have said and did not say—interesting, absorbing, brilliant things! She plans what she will say the next time he comes, the subjects they two will discuss.

But if they have reached the point of mutually admitting their love, they will discuss no subject on earth except themselves and that love. The conversation may run like this:

"When did you begin to care?"

"The first minute I met you."

"Oh, you didn't! You never even looked at me!"

"Yes, I did. I was looking at you all the time. I was saying to myself, 'That's the girl for me.'"

"I felt just the same. Wasn't it strange? From the minute you came into the room I didn't know there was anyone else there."

They both believe it.

You Can Serve the Country Better

By W. B. LOCKWOOD

'Tis well to wear the colors
On your collar and cravat;
'Tis well to stick them on your coat
And paste them on your hat.
'Tis well to let the people know
You love the old flag dear,
But you'd serve the country better, friend,
If you'd go and volunteer.

'Tis well to show the colors
In a patriotic way
And unfurl them to the breezes
At the dawning of each day.
'Tis well to stand uncovered
When the old flag passes near,
But you'd serve your country better
If you would but volunteer.

And if you've passed the limit
To soldier just a bit,
Go, get a spade and shovel
And prepare to "hit the grit."
The country's glad you idolize
The Stars and Stripes, you know,
But 'twould like it all the better
If you'd either fight or hoe.

For the army and the navy
Are ready for the row
And the farms throughout the nation
Need men to man the plow.
So leave off the decorations
And show your heart is right
By grubbing in the garden
Or joining in the fight.

HELPFULNESS IN TROUBLE TRUEST TEST

By Winifred Black

JUST as we came down the steps of the big pink house on the side of the hill, the four of us, a woman slipped into the shelter of the great gate at the foot of the steps.

"Oh!" whispered the hostess, "she's seen us first, so we'll have to go on. I do hope she won't detain us long, whoever she is."

When we got to the gate, the woman wasn't trying to open it; she was shrunk up into a little kind of sheltered place, and what do you think? She was trying to do something to her petticoat.

"I'm afraid," said the woman, in a frightened, embarrassed voice, "I thought I'd better step in and fix——"

"Oh!" said the hostess.

"Why, of course," said the motherly woman.

"Why!" gasped the astonished woman.

"Couldn't I help a little?" said one of the four of us. "Perhaps a pin——"

Then we all went on, none the worse for a quick glimpse of a perfectly respectable black silk petticoat and a pair of sturdy, middle-aged black shoes.

But, oh, the effect on our little party of four!

Quite Human, and Yet—

"Did you ever hear of such a thing?" said the shocked one of the four, her eyes round with horror.

"Outrageous!" sniffed the disappearing one, and for at least three blocks she looked as if some one had spilled a plate of soup or a cup of chocolate on her best party frock.

"Wasn't she scared!" giggled the third, and her eyes danced with mischief which had more than a spark of malice in it.

"Poor thing," said the fourth, "I felt awfully sorry for her. How she must have hated us for coming out at the gate at just the wrong minute."

"It was my gate," said the hostess, with a little coolness in her voice.

We went on and talked of other things, but, no matter what we talked of, I kept thinking of the gate and of the little, embarrassed woman whose elderly black silk petticoat had begun to slip down, down, down, over her perfectly respectable middle-aged shoes, and I hoped that she had been able to arrange things, and that it wouldn't slip again—till she got home and found a nice, strong perfectly reliable safety pin at her disposal.

And somehow I felt as if I knew each of the women in that party a good deal better after I had seen the way each acted in the odd little emergency than I did before.

Was Aunty Right

I had an aunt once who always said she could tell just who your grandmother was and whether your mother went to church every Sunday morning or only on Easter, whether you liked poetry or preferred arithmetic, and whether your living room had an open fireplace and plenty of books in it or not—just by the way you stirred the sugar in your cup of tea.

I used to laugh at her for that, but somehow I'm beginning to think maybe there was something in what she said, after all.

Every American's Duty.

To work, economize, and lend money to the government is the duty of every American.

Hundreds of thousands of our men have been called to arms and taken away from the productive forces of the country.

Hundreds of thousands of others have been diverted from producing things used in peace to producing things used in war.

In the face of this lessened productive force and production a great and unusual drain upon our resources is made by our Army and Navy and our allies.

Work and speed-up production to make up for the lessened production; economize in consumption to lessen as much as possible the drain upon our resources; lend your money to your government to prosecute this war successfully and make our soldiers powerful, effective, and victorious.

Every American can do an individual service to his country by working, saving, and buying Liberty Bonds.—Treasury Department Bulletin.

GRAVITATION MAGIC IS A PUZZLE TO MANY

By Garrett P. Serviss

A READER who accepts the Galilean law that all bodies fall under the action of gravity at the same speed, without regard to their weight, is puzzled by an experiment of his own, which he thus describes: "Why, if the law holds good of all bodies acted upon by gravitation, does a man weighing 200 pounds come down hill, coasting on a bicycle, faster than one weighing only 150 pounds? At first I thought it might be due to the easier running of the heavier man's machine, but on exchanging machines the contradiction of Galileo's law proved to be positive."

The inquirer's statement of the law is not quite accurate, and therefrom arises the interesting paradox that troubles him. The law is that all bodies fall under the action of gravity at the same velocity provided that there is no resistance. The friction of the air furnishes resistance and when the bodies are light this resistance may greatly diminish the velocity.

But when the bodies are dense and heavy the air resistance may be disregarded, except for purposes of exact experimentation.

Thus, Galileo disregarded the air resistance in his celebrated experiment of dropping cannon balls from the leaning tower of Pisa.

The balls, although one weighed ten pounds and the other only one pound, struck the ground simultaneously, as far as sight and hearing could determine, after a vertical fall of say 160 feet. Being both of the same density, the surface of the larger must have been about 4.6 times greater than that of the smaller, but, on the other hand, its momentum was ten times greater, which more than sufficed to overcome the increased resistance due to the larger surface. To demonstrate the law strictly the experiment should be tried in a perfect vacuum. There a grain of dust, or a feather, would fall as swiftly as a marble or a lead bullet.

Action of Force

Now, to understand the case of the coasting bicycles, we must remember that there are two ways of measuring the effects of gravity. The ordinary way is to estimate it by the weight that it imparts to a body. Gravitation is a force that acts equally upon all the particles making up a body. If there are many such particles the body is heavy under the pull of gravity; if there are few, it is light.

If a heavy and a light body are set in motion with the same velocity the heavy one will have more momentum (velocity multiplied by mass, or weight) and consequently more ability to overcome resistance and to strike a heavy blow.

But when we are dealing with falling bodies, or bodies that get their motion solely from the force of gravity, we disregard the weight and consider only the velocity, because the velocity imparted by gravity is the same for all bodies, independent of their weight. Yet when they are once in motion, if there is any resistance, like that of the air, to be overcome, the heavier body will, in certain circumstances, get ahead.

Suppose, for instance, that two small bodies of the same size, but one weighing 100 times as much as the other, are let fall together from a great height. They will start at the same speed and for a short time will gain velocity at the same rate; but since the resistance of the air increases with the velocity the light body will soon begin to be retarded, because it is less able to overcome the resistance. If it is very light it may be arrested while the other goes on.

Resistance Theory

There would be a similar result if the two bodies were of the same weight but one had a surface much larger than the other. The latter would be retarded because the resistance would increase with the surface.

Now, in the coasting experiment there is not only the resistance of the air to be overcome, but also, which is much more important, the friction of the wheels upon the machines, and the air resistance not being notably different, the heavier rider would have the advantage of momentum in the ratio of 4 to 3 for overcoming the resistance, and so on a long hill might get a decided lead.
